CHRISTIAN HOST IS INVADING THE CITY

Thousands of Indiana Sunday School Workers In Fort Wayne for the Annual State Convention.

A BUSY DAY FOR THE ACTIVE DELEGATES

There was a great outpouring of delegates and visitors in the city today to be in attendance at the sessions of the state convention of the Indiana Sunday School association, estimated at over 5,000 people from the neighborhood towns and the counties of the state, over 700 of them accredited delegates.

Interest centers in the place to be selected for the next meeting of the association. Four cities are seeking the honor, Richmond, Evansville, Terre Haute and Crawfordsville. The matter is not settled in open convention, it being left to the board of directors of the association, who will announce their decision at the opening of the convention sessions Saturday morning.

Richmond is making the strongest fight. Her boomers are here in force and pinning white badges labelled "On to Richmond" on to the coat lapel and dress of every man and woman they can get to wear them. Evansville and Terre Haute boomers are also active. It is difficult to tell which city will get it, but it looks like Richmond.

Nominating Committee

With the closing of the noon sessions President Hall announced the committee chosen for the purpose of selecting officers of the association for the coming year. The committee is as follows:

Jesse Rupp, chairman; J. S. Harris, W. H. Bear, J. S. Morrison, E. W. Kerneman, Ernest J. Maye, E. E. Hungenford, Rev. G. H. L. Breeman, J. A. Branson, Mrs. D. F. Shannon, Ollie E. Luggett, Mrs. Daisey Elliott, Mrs. H. D. Kees and Mrs. Hattie Gates.

This committee will meet at some time before the opening sessions Saturday forenoon. It is probable that W. C. Hall, as president, and George N. Burnie, as general secretary, will be re-elected to the positions in which they have served so efficiently during the past year.

The Sessions Today.

The general sessions of the convention today did not begin until 10 o'clock, following conference sessions which were held at various churches, all of which were largely attended. When President Hall called the general convention sessions to order the auditorium of the First Baptist church was crowded and remained so throughout the forenoon, the noon adjournment not being taken until 12 o'clock.

The song and devotional service was conducted by Prof. O. E. Excell, the splendid musical director of Chicago, who arrived late last night from Dayton, where he had been doing similar service for the Ohio Sunday School association, which had just closed its state convention. With him was his pianist, Prof. Roper, of Lima. As leader in song service and pianist, Prof. Excell and Prof. Roper have no superiors.

Forenoon Addresses.

The two addresses of the forenoon, the programmed addresses, were those of Dr. Milton S. Littlefield, of New York city, and Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick, of Corinth, Miss. Dr. Littlefield's theme being "Worship as a Factor in Sunday School Instruction."

It was a great address. Dr. Littlefield being one of the best pulpit speakers in the country. His central thought was that it should be the purpose of the Sunday school workers to stimulate religious aspiration and enthusiasm in the minds of the children in their training and this should be the work of the home as well as the Sunday school.

"Of all things which childhood needs," said the speaker, "the greatest is a spirit of dependence on and reverence for God. Obedience to law—parental, civil and divine—should be emphasized. Here in this country we are too prone to exalt liberty before we know what liberty is. Liberty is not a license to do as one pleases. Before we have liberty, we should be taught to obey. The only person who has the right to ask for liberty is the one who has learned to obey. Liberty comes after obedience to law. Obedience and reverence," continued Dr. Littlefield, "lie at the root of Sunday school instruction. We give thirty minutes a week to the religious instruction of the children and 10,000 minutes a week for them in other things. God pity your children if you give them no religious training in your homes. The state has placed on us as Sunday school workers in the religious training of the children much that should be delegated to the public schools and the home."

Miss Kilpatrick Speaks.

Following music and reports made by the various superintendents of the state departments, came the address of Miss Elizabeth Kilpatrick. She is one of the greatest field workers in the south, her home being at Corinth, Miss., where she is teacher of the largest adult bible class in the state. As a speaker she is most interesting and much of her time is given to convention work and platform speaking. She came here from Dayton, where she was on the program of the Ohio State Sunday School association during this week.

The theme of Miss Kilpatrick was "The Adult Bible Class Country." She held her audience attentive and interested listeners throughout the delivery of her address.

She is on the program for an address this evening at the woman's meeting to be held at the First Baptist church, her theme being "Just Love," and also at the men's meeting to be held at the First Presbyterian church Saturday evening.

The Elementary Division.

One of the most interesting of the departmnt reports made to the convention was that by Miss Hazel A. Lewis, of Indianapolis, the state superintendent of the elementary department, showing the work of her department in the state. She is a particularly pleasing platform speaker, with splendid appearance and mannerism. Her report covered the work done in eighty-eight of the ninety-two counties of the state.

Reports were also made by Mrs. H. L. Hutson for the advanced division of the state; A. B. Cornelius for the adult department; C. D. Meigs for the home department; Prof. R. A. Ogg for the teacher training department, and Miss Laura A. Caraway for the temperance department.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session witnessed the Baptist church auditorium crowded to its capacity, every seat being taken and many standing. The session opened with song service conducted by Prof. Excell and prayer by Dr. Woelfkin, who delivered the principal address of the afternoon, his theme being "The Element of Gentleness."

The song service preceding the convention sessions, conducted by Prof. Excell is most interesting. He has methods that are peculiar. He makes everybody sing and in this great convention, the largest of its character ever held in Fort Wayne, there are hundreds of grand singers, making the song service under Prof. Excell's direction one of the most pleasing features of the convention.

Meeting of Superintendents.

At the First Baptist church this morning at 8:30 all of the local and visiting Sunday school superintendents of the churches met for a session under the charge of George N. Burnie, general secretary. The meeting was well attended, the big church being nearly filled with interested listeners. Much of the state council work was discussed by the county superintendents and the address delivered by Mr. Burnie was of great interest to the audience.

Two other meetings were held at the same hour this morning. In the audience room of the St. John Reformed church the teachers' training department of the work was discussed by Prof. R. A. Ogg, state superintendent of teachers' training. The subjects were covered thoroughly by Prof. Ogg and after the address was finished, reports of previous work were read by members on the committee. In the Sunday school room of the same building the home department workers were addressed by F. E. Kelham, Noble county superintendent of home department.

Preparatory Service.

The Wayne street Methodist church was the scene of the preparatory services Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. There was a short musical

WILL PROSECUTE FAIR SHOOTERS

The Punctured Mr. Stokes is Sure He Will Make It Warm for 'Em.

RECOVERY IS SURE

New York, June 9.—Prosecution of the two women who shot W. E. D. Stokes, the aged millionaire proprietor of the Hotel Ansonia, will begin as soon as Mr. Stokes' condition enables him to appear against them. His attorney reiterated this statement today in reply to rumors that the case might be dropped.

At the hospital Mr. Stokes was reported as improving. It will be several days, however, before he is past the danger of blood poisoning. Meanwhile the women accused, Miss Lillian Graham and Miss Ethel Conrad, will be held to await examination.

At present the police are somewhat at sea, owing to the conflicting stories told by the principals in Wednesday night's shooting. Each young woman insisted that she alone fired the shots that struck Stokes. Miss Conrad says that the wounded man came to their apartments looking only for her. Miss Graham says that she had engaged a lawyer several days before to sue the millionaire for defamation of character.

TO PROTECT LADING BILLS.

New Orleans Bankers Invited to New York Conference

New Orleans, La., June 9.—Representatives of New Orleans banking interests have been invited to a conference to be held in New York June 19, when the perplexing cotton bill of lading proposition, precipitated by the Knight, Yancey & Co. failure, growing out of bogus lading bills, will be discussed. The aim of the conference will be to arrive at some plan whereby the integrity of lading bills may be assured.

Last autumn New York and English bankers evolved a plan to guarantee cotton lading bills, but the tax that was said to be sure to be involved in such a proposition was objected to by southern cotton interests.

CONCORDIA FIELD DAY.

College Boys in Sports Program at Driving Park.

The annual field day of Concordia college was held today at the Driving park and practically the entire student body of the institution participated in the program of athletic events.

The exercises began at 10 o'clock this morning and continued during the afternoon, when a big crowd of spectators was present to enjoy the contests.

REHEARSE FLOWER SEDVICE.

All the children of the Sabbath school of the Jewish congregation, Achduth Weshalom, are required to present themselves Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the vestry rooms of the synagogue, Wayne and Harrison streets, for the rehearsal of the flower service. Full attendance is absolutely necessary.

Pianist of the Convention.

WOMAN WITH GUN ROUTS BEER PARTY

Kansas Lady Teaches Bad Gang to Respect Her Sentiments.

BREAKS UP AN ORGY

Atchison, Kas., June 9.—With the use of a rifle and her strong right arm, Mrs. Tillie McGowan, a temperance advocate, broke up a picnic at which beer was being served near here last night. Mrs. McGowan was passing the picnic grounds when one of the "keg party" knowing her temperance sentiments, chidingly invited her to have a drink. She accepted a cup of beer intending to take it away to use as evidence against the merry-makers.

One of the men said she would have to drink the beer or give it up. She answered by picking up a stone and striking the man over the eye with it. The man grappled with her and in the struggle his face was scratched and his shirt badly torn.

Mrs. McGowan then secured a rifle and chased one of the party into the Missouri river, firing a shot at him, but missing him.

Finally, she let the man swim ashore and apologize. His companions had all fled.

LOOKING FOR A CIRCUS.

Lad Wants to Join Barnum and Bailey for the Season.

Roy Sims, a little over sixteen years old, and who has been away from his home in Canada for a year, was in the city court on a charge of vagrancy and gave his occupation as a candy vender with a circus. He said he expected to join Barnum & Bailey in this section of the country and was out looking for the show when he was arrested.

Pat Shady, let go a day or two ago on his promise to get out of town, was picked up drunk and sent over eleven days.

SPAIN TO MENACE MOROCCO AGAIN

Premier Says It Will Be No Violation of Algeciras Agreement.

FRANCE IN PROTEST

Madrid, June 9.—Premier Canalejas informed the chamber of deputies last night that Spain's projected military operations at El-Araish, Morocco, were not inconsistent with the treaty of Algeciras or other agreements.

It was necessary, he said, for Spain to restore and preserve order in that part of Morocco.

It is understood that the government also plans the occupation of Tetuan, Morocco, because Spanish subjects have been killed or maltreated by rebellious tribesmen.

In both the Tetuan and El-Araish regions Spanish interests are endangered. The French government is endeavoring to dissuade Spain from these military movements.

FRANCE MUCH CONCERNED.

Paris, June 9.—The French government is concerned over Spanish activities in Morocco, especially at a time when France, having attained the relief of Fez, intends to withdraw her troops after reorganizing the sultan's army and having accomplished the pacification of the country.

Spain, seemingly is determined to extend her zone in Morocco, which is now limited to Melilla and Ceuta and their invirons.

M. Goffray, the French ambassador at Madrid, is representing to the Spanish government the untimeliness of further military enterprise in the troubled sultanry as endangering the confidence of the powers in the maintenance of Moroccan unity, since some power might declare that Morocco was being dismembered and so the powers were no longer bound by the Algeciras agreement but each free to act accordingly to its own interest in reference to Morocco.

The power naturally in mind which might make such representations is Germany. The German note which was reported as being sent to France calling attention to the limitations of the Algeciras agreement, apparently has not been received here.

SMALLPOX CASE REPORTED.

Patient Placed Under Quarantine at Her Residence.

Elizabeth Thomas, living at 502 East Wayne street, was placed under quarantine at her residence today, where it was found she was suffering from smallpox. She is employed in a factory and precautions are being taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

TICKETS FOR THE OUTING.

Car tickets for the outing of the local lodge of Moose can be obtained during this evening, tomorrow and up to Sunday noon to be held at Robison park Sunday. These tickets will be supplied members and their families, but the wives and the children will be required to present the officials receipts of their fathers and husbands before they will be supplied.

GET DETAILS FROM MEXICO

Extent of Earthquake and Damage Wrought by It Were Immense.

SEVERAL CITIES BUFFERED MUCH

Full Extent of Devasatation is Not Yet Known, the Wires Being Down.

Mexico City, June 9.—A dispatch from Guadalajara dated the 7th and delayed by wire interruptions caused by the earthquake says that the capital was shaken by a tremor lasting more than a minute. In consequence the tower of the church of San Francisco threatens to fall and entry to the church has been forbidden. There are no casualties at Guadalajara.

Special dispatch to the Diario and the Heraldo report much damage from the earthquake in Zapatlin in the state of Jalisco.

The railroad station and 230 houses were destroyed. The town presents a desolation aspect. It is believed that many people were killed and injured but the number is not known.

At the ranches and smaller towns in the district great damage has been suffered. According to these specials Colima suffered great damage.

The volcano of that name emitted streams of lava on the towns of Tonilita and San Andres, where many houses were destroyed but no details are given of the extent of the destruction.

Telegrams from Zapatlan by way of Guadalajara indicate that 36 bodies have been recovered at that point in addition to 44 injured who are in the hospital. It is estimated that 300 houses in that locality, chiefly shacks, were destroyed. The stores also suffered. In Tuxpan three killed were reported.

LANDSLIDES BLOCK RAILWAY.

Tuxpan, Jalisco, Mexico, June 9.—Blas Ruiz, a merchant, is the first person to arrive from Colima, the region said to have suffered the greatest shock from the earthquake. He reports the railroad blocked by landslides and that there were only two or three victims at Colima. The roof of the cathedral and of the church of La Merced fell. The principal damage other than this, was to a number of small houses. The principal buildings suffered little damage.

FLOWERS CARRY WORD OF CHEER

Over 700 Bouquets Distributed by Ladies of the W. C. T. U.

ANNUAL FLOWER DAY

More than seven hundred beautiful bouquets, each breathing its message of cheer and each bearing a text card upon which was printed some verse of scripture, were distributed in Fort Wayne today by the ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance union in its observance of Flower day.

From the headquarters in the basement of the First M. E. church the ladies carried the flowers to every part of the city. They were presented to the sick poor, to homes unaccustomed to adornment of this character, to the aged shut-ins, to the hospital wards, to hospital patients from out of the city who have no local friends, to the prisoners in the jail, to newsboys and to others who do not have an opportunity often to enjoy them. That this work of the ladies is deeply appreciated is evidenced by the reports of the delight manifested by recipients given as the ladies return from their visitations.

The work is under the auspices of the flower mission department of the W. C. T. U., and has been carried on in Fort Wayne for something like ten years, but each year is growing more extensive. In addition to the flowers contributed by local ladies, friends of the movement in surrounding towns also sent flowers to Fort Wayne for this purpose today. Thirteen large boxes came from Berne, one from Hoagland, three from Woodburn and one from Grabill, while local florists gave generously to the work and the express companies brought the flowers to Fort Wayne free of charge. June 9 is the anniversary of the birth of Jennie Cassedy, founder of the pretty custom.

HUGHES SLIGHTLY IMPROVED.

John Hughes, the young motorcyclist who was operated on at St. Joseph's hospital Thursday morning, is reported by Dr. E. J. McOscar to be slightly better today. The removal of the blood clot, which was pressing upon the brain, in the hope of relieving the paralysis on the left side of the body, shows some signs that the operation will prove a success, as Hughes was able to move his left leg a trifle this morning. While his condition is improved he is by no means out of danger, as the mental trouble still remains and he has periods of delirium.

ALSO CALLS GATES DOWN

Steel Trust Official and Old Carnegie Standby is a Witness.

ANDREW DID NOT FORCE A TRUST

Price Agreements and Rate Understandings Were Necessary.

Washington, June 9.—Denial that Andrew Carnegie by threats compelled the formation of the United States steel corporation and an acknowledgement that the steel companies before that organization counseled with the railroads as to the price of steel, marked the testimony today of James Gayley, vice president of the corporation and officer of the Carnegie concern for many years, before the house "steel trust" investigating committee.

Understandings Were Necessary.

Mr. Gayley said such understandings with the railroads were necessary to prevent a monopoly in the steel business and denied that Mr. Carnegie, as charged by John W. Gates, had "held up" J. Pierpont Morgan and in so doing had forced steel manufacturers to combine.

Mr. Gayley, whom Mr. Gary told the committee was a practical steel man, gave information on many technical matters relating to the steel business. Mr. Gayley was formerly in the Carnegie Steel company.

Mr. Gayley, questioned by Representative Young, of Michigan, gave the history of the Carnegie Steel company from 1885 to 1901, when the steel corporation was formed. He mentined periods of "destructive competition" and described new methods of manufacturing steel, dwelling upon their effect in advancing the values of steel properties.

The Pennsylvania Fixed the Price.

Asked as to the price of rails in the early period, Mr. Gayley declared that the price usually was fixed in conference with railroad officials, chiefly those of the Pennsylvania railroad.

"Were there any agreements as to prices in those days?" asked Mr. Young.

"In those days all the steel companies were independent," said Mr. Gayley, "and there were periods of war so destructive that agreements were necessary in order for all to recoup. Then would come other destructive ward. Agreements were necessary from time to time or ultimately one company would have procured a monopoly of the business."

MRS. J. H. WAYLAND KILLED.

Wife of Well Known Socialist Editor Dies in Auto Wreck.

Pittsburg, Kas., June 9.—Mrs. J. H. Wayland, wife of the editor of the Appeal to Reason, published at Girard, Kas., died today from injuries received in an automobile near Girard early today. Mrs. Wayland, her husband, their two children and a Mrs. Clements, of Indiana, were in the car. The steering gear got out of order and the car swerved, striking a telephone pole and going into a ditch. Mrs. Wayland's head struck the pole and her skull was fractured. No other members of the party were injured.

In case of rain the entertainment of the Mildred Wilson circle of King's Daughters to be held tomorrow night in the Majestic airdome, will be held in Miss Hanker's hall instead.

program, after which Rev. Claude G. Travis, of this city, made the preparatory address.

The class rooms of the Plymouth Reformed church are completely filled with various exhibits of state Sabbath school work. The walls are hung with drawings and chart work of the little pupils and many new forms of work have been introduced that will prove interesting and helpful to the teachers of the elementary classes. Advanced work exhibits are also given some space in the church and today the building was visited by many teachers from out-of-town churches.

The ladies of the Christ Lutheran church will serve lunch and dinner to the visiting workers during their stay in the city. The entire basement of the church has been fitted up with long tables and the ladies can serve sixty or seventy guests at one time.

Many Men Will March.

Tomorrow evening at 6:30, just preceding the evening meetings, the Sunday school workers of the male sex will march in a great street parade. The line of march was decided upon several days ago and will be carried out as previously published. At least seven or eight hundred enthusiastic workers will take part in the march and this feature promises to be one of the interesting parts of the program.

Denominational Conferences.

Beginning at four o'clock this afternoon denominational conferences were held at the following churches:

Baptist, Plymouth Congregational church, Rev. S. L. Roberts, Franklin, presiding; Christian, Plymouth Congregational church, Sunday school room, Rev. W. H. Denison, Huntington, presiding; Disciples of Christ, Reformed church, Rev. Gary I. Cook, Indianapolis, presiding; Friends, Christ Lutheran church, Sunday school room, Mrs. Leonora Hobbs, Plainfield, presiding; Methodist Episcopal, First Baptist church, Rev. L. O. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, presiding; Presbyterian, Christ Lutheran church, Rev. A. H. Brand, Bluffton, presiding.

Meetings Tonight.

Two meetings will be held this evening, beginning at 7:30. At the First Baptist church the program will be founded entirely on women's work. There will be a short musical program, followed by scripture reading and prayer, after which the address of the evening will be made by Rev. William A. Brown, of Chicago. His subject will be "The Three Great Superlatives." A short address entitled "Just Love," by Miss Kilpatrick will close the exercises.

At the First Presbyterian church the Sunday school workers will gather for a general session. Addresses will be made by Dr. Littlefield and Dr. Bryan. Scripture reading, prayer and music will be features of the service.

The Temperance Work.

Miss Laura A. Caraway, of Warsaw, the state superintendent of the temperance department, who conducted the temperance conference at the Christ Lutheran church Thursday afternoon, will also be a speaker at the conferences held Saturday forenoon at the Plymouth Congregational church. Her theme will be "Temperance Instruction in the Elementary Grades." In speaking of the work of her special department Miss Caraway said:

"There is a growing interest in the Sunday schools and the church as to the best methods for doing temperance work, and many of the counties have efficient departments. Advance has been made in temperance teaching and teachers need and want special instruction along these lines to fit them for the work.

"There is a realization that the church is the power to right wrong; that her influence and work should enter every avenue necessary to suppress evil; that every force in the evolution of reform has brought us nearer to a purer ideal and a righteous life.

"The spirit of Indiana is manifestly, that the liquor traffic must die; and that, through the Sunday school and church the people may know the truth by living facts, by vivid presentations, and by strong illustrations of our temperance reform."

The Local Committee.

In charge of the arrangements for the convention Dr. M. A. Mason is the general chairman and assisting are several committees, the chairmen being as follows:

Registration and Entertainment—J. Ellwood Lane; finance, A. G. Burry; exhibition, Frank Ruf; decoration, L. F. Johnson; publicity, B. J. Griswold; ushers, George Philbrick; house, P. J. Alberthus. The pianist for the convention is Prof. Alvin W. Roper, of Lima, O., and the musical director Prof. O. E. Excell, of Chicago. The organists are Miss Elizabeth McFarland, John B. ROUMANIAN GOES TO REFORMATORY

Gravilla Man Glad to Get Off With a Prison Term.

A PLEA OF GUILTY

Gravilla Man, a Roumanian laborer who stabbed and killed Eli Coucher in a fight at a celebration in the rolling mills district on Sunday, May 14, entered a plea of guilty in the circuit court today to a charge of involuntary manslaughter and was sentenced to the reformatory at Jeffersonville for from two to twenty-one years.

GRAVILLA MAN.

He entered his plea through an interpreter who explained the ruling of the court and the prisoner was happy when he was told that he would be sent to prison, as his ignorance of the law led him to believe that he would be more severely dealt with.

This action saves the county the expense of a trial in which the state would have been severely handicapped by the fact that all of the witnesses are foreigners and their testimony could have been secured only through the offices of interpreters.

Man is not thirty years old and will spend at least part of his time in the Jeffersonville institution. A fight took place at the celebration during a dance and when Man ran away Coucher followed him and was instantly killed by a stab wound. Man fled and was caught at a farm house near Columbia City, where he stopped to get a drink of water.

Held Gun in Her Face.

Daisy E. Swift alleges in her divorce complaint against Keeneth Swift that he held a revolver in her face on several occasions and threatened to kill her, called her names too vile to put in the records and failed to provide for her and their two children.

She also charges that he is an habitual drunkard. They were married in April, 1901, and recently separated. C. W. Porter filed the suit.

She Milked and He Loafed.

Vera Mason says in her divorce complaint against Harley T. Mason that when he conducted a dairy she milked all the cows and he sold the milk, got the money and loafed around saloons; that he made her work as a servant in the home of his parents and that he would leave her ill and come to Fort Wayne and associate with women of ill repute. She asks $500 alimony. Harper & Eggeman filed the suit.

Articles of incorporation of the Independent Cooperage company have been filed with the county recorder. The capital stock is $35,000 and the incorporators are Guy F. Bassett, Frank T. Benoy and Harry G. Hogan.

WANTED — A reliable driver to take charge of good paying route. 1802 S. Calhoun St.

FARMER BLOWS FACE OFF.

Lafayette, Ind., June 9.—Samuel Little, aged 52, a Benton county farmer was brought here today in a dying condition, with one half of his face shot away by a charge from a shot gun. He arose early this morning, and sitting on a chair in his room, placed the butt of the gun on the floor and the muzzle under his chin then pressed the trigger with his toe. He has been despondent for several weeks, and it is believed he is damented. He is unmarried.

CITY BREVITIES.

The ladies of the Grace Reformed church will serve dinner and supper to the visiting Sunday school workers at the church parlors, 320 East Washington boulevard, tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Baker, a bride and groom of Albion, Ind., were in the city today en route for eastern points on their honeymoon.

Rev. Richard Spetnagle, superintendent of the South Bend district of the Anti-Saloon league, is in the city today.

George Seabold, formerly of Fort Wayne, and now of Detroit, Mich., where he is employed as city salesman for the National Biscuit company, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Seabold, of West Main street.

C. H. Smith, a boilermaker at the Pennsylvania shops, suffered a severe contusion of the index finger of the left hand by striking it with a hammer this morning.

Mrs. L. P. Curry, who created a sensation in this city under the name of Miss Dollie Dimples, returned this week to New York city, where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin. Mr. Curry accompanied his wife and Thomas Bird, better recognized under the name of "Reds," who sold The Sentinel during the time of Miss Dimples' stay and since, leaves tonight for the same city.

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS.

Dayton, Ohio, June 9.—One man was killed and two injured, one perhaps fatally, in a gas explosion while cleaning a well at Centerville, this county, this afternoon.

WHERE CAN DOGS BE MAINTAINED?

Chief Abbott is Bothered to Know What to Do Under the Law.

NO POUND SUPPLIED

Chief of Police Abbott is all ready to enforce the recently enacted ordinance to keep dogs from roaming the streets at will but he is a bit bothered to know what he is to do with the canines between the time they are capured and either claimed by the owner or executed.

The police are directed to pick up stray dogs and to turn them over to the poundmaster and the poundmaster is directed to keep them forty-eight hours. But where? Since yesterday the ordinance has been in force, the thirty days from the time of the enactment having elapsed.

Today the chief was studying ways and means for putting it into operation and the question of a pound was his only obstacle. One of the city buildings on Clinton street may be used.

Board of Works Routine.

Formal application was made at the meeting of the board of public works last night by the Fort Wayne Automatic Oil Supply company for a franchise to put filling stations on the streets and the matter was taken under advisement.

The board did not advertise for bids for the posts for ornamental lighting and will let the matter rest for a few days until the question of maintaining the system is disposed of by the city council.

THE DEATHS.

LOTHAMER.

Mrs. Bessie Lothamer, aged 26 years and 3 months, died at 3:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon at St. Joseph hospital. Death was due to heart trouble and followed an operation. The deceased was the wife of Albert Lothamer and a daughter of George Coling, of Pittsburg, Pa., who formerly resided in Fort Wayne. She had been a resident of this city all her life and had many friends. She was united in marriage to Albert Lothamer December 24, 1902, and three children were born to the union, who, with the husband, survive. They are Ogden, Robert and Catherine. The deceased was a devout member of the Third Presbyterian church.

WATERS.

Grant Waters, aged 41 years, died Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at his home, 1414 Clinton street, following a two years' illness from paralysis. Mr. Waters suffered a stroke of paralysis last Saturday night and had been steadily failing since that time. The deceased was born in St. Joseph township and had been a lifelong resident of Allen county. He was a bricklayer by trade. He is survived by a widow and two sons, Holton, of Pasadena, Cal., and Roy, of Detroit, Mich., a brother, Peter, of Pioneer, O., and two sisters, Mrs. Ben Howard, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. John Wetzel, of Oklahoma. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

WOMAN RAVES IN PRAYER FOR VICTIM

French Maid Who Shot Fred Kohl in Frisco, Wants Him to Recover.

HE PROBABLY WILL

San Francisco, June 9.—The condition of C. Federick Kohl, prominent capitalist and clubman, who was shot and dangerously wounded yesterday by Adele Verge, a French maid, formerly in the employ of Mrs. Kohl, was slightly improved today. Kohl rested easily last night and it is thought he may recover. An effort to locate the bullet lodged in his breast by X-ray examination, will be made today.

Adele Verge spent the night at the city prison in incoherent prayers for the recovery of her victim. Hysterical and unnerved, she would only say in reply to questions that she did not know why she shot Kohl and did not want him to die. She declared she had bought the pistol from which the shots were fired many months ago as a protection against the detective she says Kohl and Frank Miller hired to persecute her.

MOTHER WILL GO TO HIM.

Philadelphia, June 9.—C. Frederick Kohl, the San Francisco millionaire, who was shot by a French maid yesterday, resided in this city for several years, his first wife being a Philadelphian. Mr. Kohl has many friends here and the attack upon him caused them deep sorrow. They learned that his mother who came east to attend the Gould-Graham wedding was sojourning in Atlantic City and they immediately got into communication with her and arranged for her journey back to the coast.

GOVERNMENT WILL LOSE HALF BILLION

Joker Lurked in Law Which Was Designed to Reserve Rights.

RAILWAY WILL REAP

Washington, D. C., June 9.—Just as the government is sitting for the biggest legal game it ever played the discovery is made that it is bound to lose and the Southern Pacific railroad to win $500,000,000 if the play goes on.

The stakes are a great area of California's richest oil lands. They were granted to the railroad with a clause in the grant expressly excepting all mineral lands save those containing coal and iron. Most of these lands were patented to the grantee more than six years ago.

The joker in the situation is a special statute of limitation, slipped through congress in an act of March 3, 1891, and perfected by another act of March 2, 1896.

Effect to Bar Proceedings.

The effect of these acts, as construed by the United States supreme court, is absolutely to bar proceedings by the government to annul a patent of land to a land-grant railroad after six years from the issuance of the patent. Until these acts are repealed, the government has not a chance on earth to get back its lands.

Announcement has been made that within a few weeks the government will file suit as to these lands with Special Assistant Attorney General Townsend in charge. The oil men of California are thoroughly aroused and alarmed by the discovery of the joker.

They are advised by some of the ablest lawyers in the state the suits can result only in confirming the railroad's title and so they are appealing to Washington with all the force they can command to hold off the litigation until the "joker" act can be repealed. This they believe congress will not hesitate to do, once it knows the inwardness and gravity of the situation.

Suits already have been instituted with respect to lands patented to the railroad company less than six years ago, and as to these there is no question. The special statute of limitations cannot affect these proceedings. As to the contemplated actions touching lands patented before June, 1905, there is certainty that to sue now, before the repeal of the acts of 1891 and 1896, would be to make a present to the Southern Pacific of about half a billion dollars.

Involves Vast Territory.

The magnitude of the issue may be appreciated when it is explained that the Southern Pacific's empire on the Pacific slope ranges from Portland, Ore., southward to Yuma, Ariz., and from Sacramento, Cal., eastward to Salt Lake City. It is composed of land grants made by congress to numerous railroad companies which have since become merged in the Southern Pacific system.

By acquiring ownership or control of these various railroads and their land grants, the Southern Pacific company has become the largest and wealthiest landholding corporation in the world.

The area of land bestowed upon these railroads and now claimed by the Southern Pacific reaches the enormous total of 26,177,518 acres, a principality carved from the richest section of country on the globe.

Of this land, an immense area lies in the oil belt at Kern, Fresno and Kings counties. Much of it has been positively demonstrated to be petroleum bearing and is being developed and exploited for the railroad.

Forfeitures of Title Contended.

It is contended that by the discoveries that make the land so valuable, the railroad has forfeited title. It was definitely stipulated that all mineral lands, except coal and iron, were to be eliminated from the grant.

It was on the declaration of the railroad alone that the lands were not mineral that title was bestowed. It is to cancel these titles the government is now acting.

The value of these mineral lands has been estimated from $500,000,000 upward. It may be twice as great.

Kekionga hive, No. 83, Ladies of the Maccabees, gave a delightful pedro Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Roeger, 1018 Elmwood avenue. Prizes were won by Mrs. Hatfield and Mrs. Foote. The next pedro will be given on the afternoon of June 16 at the home of Mrs. Anna Cull, 721 Taylor street, who will be assisted by Mrs. Lillian McManigal.

Seargent Seiler, in charge of the local army recruiting station, will go to Kendallville Saturday on a canvas for recruits.

CONSIDER FEDERAL PARDONS.

Leavenworth, Kas., June 9.—The federal board of parole after considering the applications for parole of 300 inmates of the federal prison here, completed the work of its present session here today and adjourned. Eleven bankers have appeared before the board, but the result of the board's action in their cases will not be known until announced by Attorney General Wickersham. There are now 1,131 prisoners in the federal penitentiary, the largest number in the history of the institution.

RECIPROCITY IN THE SENATE.

The reciprocity bill is thrown into the senate with the Root amendment tacked on with a view to riding the measure to death and having no recommendation from the finance committee as to its passage. President Taft is rigidly opposed to any additions, curtailments or modifications. He wants the bill just as it came from the house and in that form it is just as it came from the executive hands. The senate debate will be prolonged, stubborn and perhaps bitter. The political situation ensuing from it will be complex and puzzling. The standpats and reactionaries are split, the progressives are sundered and the democrats are divided. Whether or not it is possible from this heterogeneous mixture of elements to separate and coalesce a mass sufficient to carry the bill through is the substance of the grave doubts that agitate the executive bosom. The principal body of the support of the reciprocity measure will be democratic. If it survives the senate it will be the democrats who will prove the saviors as was the case in the house. Mr. Taft will have to exert the full force of the executive influence to preserve his measure intact. His campaign for it has been addressed to the country and not to the senate. He is relying on the first source of legislative power for his support. His Chicago speech last week was a strong appeal to the agricultural interests not to permit themselves to be deceived and misled by special interests that have much to fear in the measure. His New York address was peculiarly devoted to reasons why the south should advocate reciprocity. He doubtless will be heard from on other good occasion in aiding to arouse public sentiment. But if he is to save his great measure he will not escape necessity to do as his great predecessors—Cleveland and Roosevelt—did to go down into the ruck at the capitol and gain support wherever he can procure it.

Following his well emphasized statement that he has not yet given his pledge to Taft, Colonel Roosevelt adds to it another with more emphasis and of greater importance. Nothing could exceed the energy with which he denied that he would be a candidate next year. "I would regard it as a calamity if I were nominated," he declares, and to that adds that there is not a word more to be said. The Colonel should relent so far as to explain whether he would regard it as a calamity to himself or to his party, to Taft or to the country to be pitchforked again into the great arena of the struggle. Perhaps he means that it would be a calamity to the democratic party. Whatever he means, it is clear that at least one thing he wants no mistake about is that he will no be a candidate. When he gets good and ready he will be found alongside the old ship and doing what he can to hoist a new set of colors at her masthead. Meanwhile it will add quite a lot to the peace of mind of a cerain school of republicans to get the Roosevelt idea out of their systems.

The proposal by the board of works that contracts be made at once for the immediate repair of those asphalt streets that are in the worst condition doubtless contemplates the wiser course. While it is true the city is preparing to get an asphalt repair plant to do this sort of work it must be remembered that by the time the city can complete the legal term of advertising, receive bids, make an award, purchase a plant, have it delivered and put in running order many weeks must elapse. There is much repair work that ought not to be delayed. To do so simply will add to the cost of it and there probably will be no economy in waiting for the city equipment. To dispose of the work now most imperative should not, however, be allowed to constitute any interference with or cause any delay of the plans to install a municipal plant as soon as that can be done.

It is to be said for President Taft that while he is a man of peace he is one bully fighter. His determination to get his reciprocity bill through as he believes it ought to be is a fine display of courage and resolution and it is set in sharper relief by the fact that it is splitting both elements of his party in congress. If the president triumphs it will be over obstacles such as few presidents have had to meet and overcome. It is not democratic antagonism that troubles, but republican hostility.

That the house will go into the deal by which the steel trust acquired the Tennessee Coal and Iron company in the fall of 1907 seems to be pretty well assured. Judge Gary has told an interesting and almost romantic story of the self-sacrificing devotion of Mr. Morgan and the big trust in gathering in an almost worthless property, but what congress wants to know more about is the part the white house played in that deal. Judge Gary has circumstantially declared that nothing was done unutil assurance was had that the government would not in any way enforce the anti-trust criminal law against the deal.

The predilections of that Stokes family for spectacular trouble exceeds all calculation. In the shooting affray in New York W. E. D. Stokes was brought to a hospital bed with several gunshot wounds inflicted by a pair of young women with whom he had evidently become involved in an essentially Stokes fashion. The facts of the case are being kept well clouded, but the truth can be pretty accurately guessed. That Stokes is recovering doubtless will mean little more of the affair.

The progressive republican party will evidently have to outfit itself with an entire new set of political calculations now that the colonel has publicly viewed a renomination as a calamity. When it comes to foreseeing the colonel's vision is doubtless as good as any man's and he is barricading the road by which stampeders may undertake to do the hurrah march in the next republican national convention.

CHILDREN RATED LESS IMPORTANT THAN HOGS.

(Philadelphia North American.)

Should a citizen of this commonwealth devote several years to professional training in the care of sheep or hogs or kine or horses, and, having passed the tests of professional efficiency, should that citizen engage in the public service in the care of cattle or hogs or sheep or horses, what salary would he expect? As a beginning, he would receive, perhaps, $1,400 a year; certainly not less than $1,200. We doubt that a veterinarian can be found working for the state or for the city of Philadelphia at a smaller salary than that.

That is the measure of minimum value put on professional care of hogs or cows. Hogs and cows are property, and so the man who can give expert service to them commands a fair remuneration. We presume that a woman who should take the same professional training would be worth equally as much in the employ of the public as an expert in live stock.

Now, if the same woman should have spent as many or more years in professional training to care for the bodies and minds of little children and had entered the service of the public, giving her professional care to the training of fifty or sixty children every day, she would receive $520 a year. That is what Philadelphia pays women entering the city service as primary teachers. The difference between $1,200 for the primary expert on hogs and $520 for the primary expert on children can fairly be supposed to measure the difference between the community's estimate of the value of the one or the other. A hog is worth considerably more than twice as much as a child.

Now the Teachers' Association of Philadelphia is asking that the board of education reduce this disparity; that the minimum annual wage to primary teacherss be increased from $520 to $600. As compared with what the community pays for professional services to the hog, it does not seem much.

Some day, in the great, distant future, the community will think that services to its children are more important and more valuable than services to its hogs. In the meantime, every move made toward putting the teaching professions on a higher plane is one that commands the support of people who believe that a child is of greater value than the hog to the community.

But since the general belief seems now to be in favor of the hog, we will not try to prove the justice of the teachers' demands by this comparison. We will dismiss the hog and examine the claims of the teachers along other lines.

In this connection it has been pointed out that the cost of living has increased within the last ten years enormously. The percentage of increase varies in the estimates. The two great commercial agencies—Dun's and Bradstreet's—place it at 35 and 36 per cent., respectively. The United States bureau of labor statistics puts it as low as 23. Whatever it is, it has cut down just that much the earning power of every class whose wages have not been correspondingly advanced. Other cities have recognized this in adjusting the salaries in their schools. In the last five years the wages of women teachers have been advanced in Toledo 21 per cent.; in Baltimore, 39 per cent.; in St. Louis, 39 per cent.; in Jersey City, 29 per cent.; in Rochester, 29 per cent.; in Indianapolis, 29 per cent.; in Minneapolis, 28 per cent.; in Detroit, 28 per cent.; in St. Paul, 27 per cent.; in Milwaukee, 25 per cent.; in Providence, 18 per cent.; in Cleveland, 30 per cent., and in Chicago, 11 per cent.

In this city, with its standard of wages twice that of England for mechanical trades and with the cost of living correspondingly high, the minimum wage for a public school teacher is almost identical with that prevailing in English cities. Measured by the standard of values in the two countries, the Philadelphia teacher gets just one-half as much as the English teacher does for the same kind of work.

TO EXTERMINATE TUBERCULOSIS.

(Dr. Woods Hutchinson in The Survey.)

Roughly speaking, any city in the civilized world can stamp out tuberculosis within its boundaries, at an expense not to exceed $1 per capita of its population, within ten years. Itt is only a question of backing the anti-ttuberculosis crusade with money and legal authority.

The expenses are heavy to begin with, but when we once fairly grasp the fact that every case of tuberculosis comes by infection from a previous case; that 70 per cent. of all cases now in existence in Berlin, for example, are clearly traceable to infection from known previous cases, it is to be seen at once that a rapid decline might be hoped for after the first year, or two years, or three, which might be necessary to get all the known cases lifted completely out of a city. This scheme is professedly an ideal one, and is based upon the possibility of building camps for, and removing from a city, all known cases within one year. This might be done in such a time; but practically, even if abundant funds were supplied, it would probably take from two to three years. This, however, would only affect the final result by delaying the process by about 30 per cent. of the time and diminishing the money cost in proportion. Any community that wishes to save money by selling human lives at $500 apiece to the demon of the great white plague can delay as long as it pleases. The chief difficulties in the way of the plan would be, first, the financial backing, though there ought to be a perfect glut of capital for such an enormously remunerative investment and one so profitable to a community. Ten thousand people die of tuberculosis in New York city every year, and if the saving of these lives is not worth $16,000,000, or, for the matter of that, $60,000,000, then there is no use in quoting figures.

TWO PORTRAITS.

(Toledo Blade.)

The decision of the New York court of appeals against the workmen's compensation act was based upon the idea that the constitution of the United States forebade it. The circuit judges assumed that if the United States supreme court were to pass upon the act it would declare the statute unconstitutional. No citizen was to be deprived of his property without due process of law—the process in the instance being interpreted to mean that of the courts only.

Everyone who believed that the narrow and reactionary members of the New York court of appeals were right and just cannot but be shocked at the decision of the United States supreme court in the case governing the "hours of service" law. Congress, by this act, regulated the time that train dispatchers, engineers, firemen, conductors and others connected with interstate commerce may work in each twenty-four hours. Besides being a measure with the obvious intent of furthering safety upon railroads, it was in line with the humanitarian movement to conserve the strength and lives of workmen. In upholding the law, the supreme court proved itself not only abreast of the day in thought and action, but also showed itself a far higher tribunal, a more decent institution than the New York court of appeals pictured it. Persons who praised the first portrait will be anything save pleased with the portrait which events have painted

Business is not a matter of guess work--if you'll look you'll always find a reason.

If one really wants a "square deal" he can find it--that's one use for eyes and brains.

You say you paid $1.50 for six pairs of hose that the same store is now offering at $1, and you are loud in declaring that you were taken advantage of. Well! who's to blame?"

"I've kept my eyes on the various stores for the past five years and I've found one that seldom runs either sales or "specials." "Also, I've proven that their regular prices are about the same as the other stores' "specials" and I've never been taken advantage of yet." "If you'll deal under the "quality" shield of the Dukeses you'll never pay more than a thing's worth." "I bought six pairs of Wayne Knit hose from them some time ago and only paid a dollar."

BOTH REMEMBERED.

Judge Hangar was spending a sunny autumn week in Atlantic City, and every morning on one of the piers he used to see a young person whose face looked most familiar, says the Argonaut. The judge prided himself on his memory for names and faces, and yet somehow, though she always studiously avoided his eye, he stopped and addressed her with courtly politeness. "Pardon me, miss," he said, "your features are familiar, but, strangely enough, I cannot recall the circumstances under which we met. Yet I certainly remember our having met somewhere."

"Remember!" the young woman cried, and she rose from among her friends with angry and aggressive air. "Remember, you old scalawag! Well, you ought to remember. It's not a year since you gave me eight months in the pen and for two cents I'd pitch you over the railing into the water!"

THE WELCOME IS EXTENDED

Greeting to Delegates of State Sunday School Convention.

FROM A LAYMAN AND CITY PASTOR

Opening Sermon Delivered by Dr. Woelfkin, the Famous Preacher.

A great audience, one that crowded the main auditorium and the gallery of the First Baptist church, was present Thursday evening when the general sessions of the state convention of the Indiana Sunday School association were begun with W. C. Hall, the state president, presiding.

The meeting was preceded with a song service, which, because of the fact that O. E. Excell, of Chicago, the director of the convention music, had not yet arrived, was led by E. F. Yarnelle, of this city, with Miss Elizabeth Farland, of Marion, at the organ. Following a few introductory words by President Hall brief prayers were offered by three delegates in the audience and then the president introduced W. H. Worden, of this city, who delivered the address of welcome to the delegates on behalf of the citizens generally.

Mr. Worden's Welcome.

Mr. Worden said in part:

"I am commissioned by the local committee to extend to you a greeting in behalf of the Sunday schools of this city, numbering perhaps twenty-five with an enrollment of something like 10,000 scholars, and to express their Christian welcome to our fair city.

"We rejoice in your presence and bid you welcome to all that our city possesses. We are naturally proud of our city. To many of us it is the city of our birth. To others it is the city of our adoption. But all of us are proud of its fair name, proud of the history that lies behind it, proud of its rapid progress it is making toward the high ideal, proud of its hospitable homes, proud of its Christian churches. Whatever our status, we welcome you to the broad and beautiful streets and avenues of our city. We welcome you to her hospitable homes and public buildings. We welcome you to her parks and playgrounds. We welcome you to her churches.

"We bid you welcome in the name of our Sunday schools and churches, which are neither few nor insignificant. We gladly welcome you to the fellowship of the ministers, the Sunday school superintendents and all Christian workers, who have wrought for the Master in our beautiful city. We welcome you to the fellowship of the present gathering and this hour.

"We welcome you because you are the friends of the bible, because you believe in God and in Jesus Christ whom He hath sent, because you are making it your business and increasingly the business of the church to teach the coming generation those principles that underlie the purity, the integrity and stability of our individual, church and national life. We rejoice that to the uttermost parts of the earth our religion is going in organized form to teach the youth and to lead them in the way of life everlasting and instruct them concerning the things of the kingdom.

"We welcome you as the representatives of organized, intelligent and pertinent study of the truth that makes men free. We are brethren of yours and we are glad of the opportunity to take you by the hand and rejoice with you in all that God has wrought. We welcome, then, brothers from all parts of the state of Indiana. Welcome, visitors from other states. Welcome to our hearts and homes. Welcome to the fellowship and uplift of this hour."

Dr. Vichert's Address.

The address of welcome on behalf of the churches and ministers of the city was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. F. Vichert, pastor of the convention church, who, in part, said:

"I am happy to have a share in the welcome extended to you. Mr. Worden spoke of the charm and glory of the city in which he had the sense to be born; and I imagine that after hearing him some of you are sorry that you were not born here, but it is too late to talk of that. I, however, am glad to join in the words of welcome. Let me say I welcome you with great fullness of heart, more so when I consider the business you are here for. The Sunday school pertains to the spirit life. We should stand with great reverence before childhood. We should help them the right way and start them on a good career. Guidance of the children is the principal aim of the Sunday school and we are here to consider that. In view of all these facts, I doubly rejoice in welcoming you. You are welcome a thousand times."

President's Response.

President Hall gave the response to the welcome words. He said that a year when the convention committee from Fort Wayne extended the invitation, it said it wanted the 1911 convention to come to Fort Wayne because it was the most wicked city in Indiana. "We want the Godly people of the state to come," is the way they put it, according to Mr. Hall.

"The conditions were not very well stated," said Mr. Hall. "We came here expecting to find a wicked city, but what we really find is a Godly city. We come here to do God's work. We are here to look over the field and shape the course of our work for Him. We are here to advance God's kingdom, and especially to stimulate great-er activity along the lines of Sunday school work."

In closing Mr. Hall said: "This convention will help not only Fort Wayne, but will help us visitors, not only here, but when we return to our homes. I pray you in God's name not to neglect the sessions of this meeting. The men must go into the parade, especially the men of Fort Wayne, if we wish to make a good standard showing. The program for this convention has never been excelled in any Christian movement in the state."

The Convention Sermon.

Following a solo sung by E. F. Yarnelle, in which the audience joined in the chorus, Dr. Cornelius Woelfkin, professor in the Baptist seminary at Rochester, N. Y., a famous preacher, was introduced and delivered the opening convention sermon. Dr. Woelfkin had just come from Dayton, O., where he was one of the speakers at the Ohio Sunday School state convention in session there this week. He was greeted with the Chatauqua salute when introduced and his theme was "Religious Verifications," the sermon being a masterly one. In an introductory way he said:

"I have just come from Dayton, O., where I attended the Ohio state Sunday school convention. Last night I participated in a street parade formed by 9,000 and witnessed by 35,000 people. It was indeed a great demonstration. The men who spoke during the sessions of the Ohio convention will come to Fort Wayne and through me they send you greetings. I feel at home in Indiana and especially here as through fourteen years of association at Winona I met many Fort Wayne people."

And then, in speaking of his theme, "Religious Verifications," he said the subject had always been one of great interest to him. "I have to fight continually for my faith in religion. I often wonder if there is really any religion or if the whole thing is only a beautiful imagination. I have to fight, not for any particular creed or belief, but for faith. We are living in an age of great doubt about the truth in religion and the great question is how may we verify the faith we profess."

Discussing this phase of his theme at some length, the speaker said, and it was the central thought of the sermon, "We must verify the truths of religion, our belief in the divinity of Jesus Christ and immortality, by doing the will of God. Jesus said, 'I have learned the will of God by doing the will of God,' and that is the way we must verify our faith. We must be active in religious work."

A telegram was announced from the pulpit in the evening coming from the Nebraska state Sunday school convention, in session at present. The Nebraska people send greetings. It was unanimously voted to return the greetings, and Mr. E. F. Yarnelle was delegated to return greetings.

A JUNE TRAGEDY.

With a groan the well dressed young man opened his eyes and stared for a moment at those who were bending over him. Then he lapsed into unconsciousness, and a physician who had been hastily summoned to the scene shook his head doubtfully, says the Chicago Record-Herald. There were many cuts upon the injured man's face and head, and it was evident that he had suffered severe internal injuries.

Beside him lay a beautiful girl, who was dressed in a becoming traveling suit. Her sweet face was marred by several bruises, and the doctor, after a hurried examination, announced that her heart was still beating, but he would make no statement concerning her chances for recovery.

They had not been in a railway or an automobile accident. There were no evidences of a smash-up, and it was evident that they had not been attacked by robbers, for a large amount of money was found in one of the man's pockets.

Later it was discovered that they had started away on their wedding journey and had fallen into the hands of their loving and enthusiastic friends.

LAWYER CHOKED IN COURT.

Man Whose Wife Had Reflected Upon, Assaults Him.

Logansport, Ind., June 9.—Springing upon Attorney O. B. Conant as he was addressing a jury in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, Frank Pittman choked him almost to unconsciousness because Conant had made a remark reflecting upon the character of Pittman's wife.

Deputy Sheriffs Harness and Stover released Conant, but in so doing were attacked by Mrs. Pittman, who scratched Harness' face.

The case at trial was that of Myrtle Bruner against Charles Bruner for divorce. Conant, as attorney for Bruner, said that Mrs. Bruner had met other men at Mrs. Pittman's home and that Mrs. Pittman was not a fit woman for Mrs. Bruner to associate with. This provoked Pittman's assault on the attorney.

Judge Lairy ordered Conant to apologize to Mrs. Pittman and fined Pittman $10 and sentenced him to ten days in jail for contempt of court.

In the Bruner case the jury granted the husband a divorce on his cross complaint.

DIRECTORS ARE CHOSEN.

Interstate Mill Supply Company Completes Organization.

The organization of the new Interstate Mill Supply company was perfected Thursday evening at a meeting of stockholders held at the Commercial club, and directors chosen were J. W. Wisehart, Elmer Leonard, W. M. Leedy, Gustave Bengs, Mark T. Cocherl, C. J. Stier, A. H. Perfect, A. S. Bond and E. W. Puckett.

Mr. Wisehart was chosen president of the company with Mr. Cocherl as vice president, and E. W. Puckett, treasurer and general manager. The company will begin business by July 1 and its traveling men will be Mark T. Cocherl, C. J. Stier, W. D. Whipple, W. A. Klepper and R. E. Flagle. E. W. Puckett, a man of long experience in the business, was the moving spirit in the formation of the new company.

SAVE DROWNING LAD.

Willard Draker is Dragged Out by Young Companions.

Willard Draker, a lad residing on Third street, was dragged out of a pool of water near Lawton park yesterday barely in time to save his life by companions with whom he was swimming. The Draker boy was seized by cramps and after his playmates had plunged into the water and rescued him it required half an hour's work by Dr. C. M. Goheen to restore consciousness. Young Draker is recovering rapidly.

SON TAKES BRIDE WITH COMMISSION

MRS. JOHN BORLAND

New York, June 9.—Midshipman John Borland, of the battleship Michigan, son of Mrs. John Borland, a wealthy woman of this city and Newport, known in society circles, received his appointment as ensign on June 5 and simultaneously with his promotion came his marriage with Miss Ermine Marie Clark, an actress with "The Pink Lady" company. The wedding was the climax of a courtship of a few weeks, in which time the couple was often seen together in public.

Mr. Borland is twenty-three years old and is a graduate of 1909 at Annapolis, where he was an honor man. His mother before her marriage was Miss Constance E. Rives and with her daughters is at present in Europe. The bridegroom's two sisters, the Misses Ella and Maud Borland, have taken prominent parts in social functions and the latter is a member of the Colony club.

GUN LADY GIVES A FAIR WARNING

MISS MAUDE BLACK

Muskogee, Okla., June 9.—Revenue officers whose hats were shot off by Maude Black, a comely, dark-haired girl, when they went prowling into the Kiamichi mountains seeking "moonshiners," are not going to get off so easy next time, according to her declaration in court. She is held here as a witness in a case against John Thompson and Jim Cantrell, captured in a raid near Eufaula. The girl is Thompson's sweetheart, and, angered by his arrest, she threatens to take better aim hereafter.

She declared she was an expert rifle and revolver shot, and in answer to a query as to her marksmanship, said calmly: "Oh! I could shoot that officer's star off his breast at 100 yards without any trouble. Once I shot two officers' hats off their heads at about that distance when they came nosing around too near. I could have killed them, but didn't want to do that. I stood guard, you know, while John and Jim worked the still."

Maude Black is barely out of her teens, but has earned the title of "queen of the moonshiners." Her hair is of the darkest hue and she wears it in two long braids over her shoulders. Her eyes are dark and presented an unfathomable depth when she appeared on the witness stand and frankly told the story of her life among the moonshiners.

TO CALIFORNIA BY AUTO.

Four Detroit Ladies Reach City on Long Tour.

En route to California by auto, four Detroit ladies reached Fort Wayne last night for the first stop of the journey and were guests at the Wayne hotel. They are Mrs. Joseph Boyer, Mrs. Frank Boyer, Mrs. H. E. Candler and Mrs. Standist Backus. Each evening under agreement the ladies wire to Governor Chase Osborne, of Michigan, their run for the day. The party, which is traveling in a big Oldsmobile car, driven by a special chauffeur, left this morning for Terre Haute, which will be the stopping place for this evening.

American Beauty Girl is Divorced

MRS. MILDRED FRENCH GRAFF

Philadelphia, June 9.—Despite efforts at secrecy, it has just become known that Mrs. Mildred French Graff had last Friday obtained a decree of divorce here from Capt. Horace Mortimer Graff, of New York city.

When the divorce was granted, in common pleas court No. 3, on the ground of desertion, no one present was aware that the petitioner was the wife of "the 'American Beauty' girl" of Philadelphia society.

SOCIETY

Miss Helen O'Brien, of Freeport, Pa., who is visiting Miss Linda McKinnie, was the guest for whom Miss Evelyn Fisher, of West Berry street, invited fifteen young ladies to a thimble party at her home this afternoon. There were bowls of red roses and calliopsis in the different rooms which formed a pretty setting for summery gowns and the sewing was varied by much visiting and the enjoyment of refreshments.

Miss Kay Spencer, assisted by Miss Emil Verweire and John B. Archer, entertained about forty ladies at an informal musicale this morning in her studio in the Art school building. Mr. Archer and Miss Verweire played several piano solos and Miss Verweire accompanied Miss Spencer, who sang several times. The program was wholly delightful and the young ladies of the Euterpean quartet served cool refreshments afterwards. The musicale was given in honor of Miss Ella Spencer, a sister to the hostess, who has been visiting in the city for several weeks and who has won many friends by her bright and charming manner. Miss Ellen Spencer, an aunt of the visitor and the hostess, assisted in receiving the guests. On Tuesday Miss Ella Spencer starts for California on her way to the Philippines as she is to sail for that country on June 28.

Mrs. A. L. Griebel, of Wildwood avenue, entertained ladies to make five tables at bridge yesterday afternoon at her home. The card playing was on the porch and out of doors where garden flowers made the scene still prettier. In serving luncheon Mrs. Griebel was assisted by Mrs. E. A. Wagner and for favors the guests received nosegays of pansies and other small and fragrant flowers.

The Misses Oviatt, of Lincoln avenue, entertained about a dozen friends last evening in honor of their guest, Miss Katherine Kohler, of New York city.

Miss Mabel Lamboley, of Home avenue, entertained about thirty guests last evening very pleasantly in honor of her sister, Miss Olive Helena Lamboley, who is to be a June bride. There was a profusion of flowers used in decorating the house, sweet syringa and white roses prevailing. Pink roses were given for favors when the guests went to the prettily decorated dining room for supper. Miss Helen Gruber will entertain for Miss Lamboley tomorrow evening.

Miss Genevieve Schulte, of Shelbyville, Ky., is in the city visiting friends.

Mrs. Jesse Broslus has gone to Evansville to visit relatives.

Mrs. E. C. Rurode and Miss Rurode have gone to Decatur, Ill., to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pritchard and daughter, Gertrude, of Helena, Mont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brown, of Canton, O., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, of West Williams street.

Mrs. Alice Overdorff, of Geneva, is the guest of Mrs. Ida Woodrup Miller, of 1111 Summit street.

Mrs. Walter Bauer, of Cleveland, arrived in the city today to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Cook.

Mrs. A. L. Seidler and Mrs. Louis Joly will leave tomorrow for Tipton, O., to spend two weeks visiting friends in the country near that place.

Miss Ignota White and Miss Bernadette Monahan will entertain at the home of Miss White this evening in honor of Miss Georgia Singrey.

Miss Dorothy Chase, of Chicago, a student at Bryn Mawr, is the guest of Miss Elizabeth Porter for over Sunday.

Mrs. Ben Carpenter, of Tarentum, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Enders and son, Harold, of Upper Sandusky, Ohio, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Richardson.

A dinner party of yesterday was given by a dozen young women in honor of Miss Myrtle Nicholls, who will leave before long with her mother and sister for Detroit, Mich., to live. The dinner was given in the office rooms of the J. W. Kidd company, as the young women interested in it are employed there. Those who participated were the Misses Myrtle Nicholls, Rose Guillott, Ruth Cope, Irma Hardwidge, Cella McCarthy, Mae Meyer, Estella Bock, Marie Krudop, Anna Otten, Mary Ohneck, Estella Brokaw, Marie and Rosetta Hines.

The members of the South Side Tennis club were guests last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bond, of West Jefferson street. Mr. and Mrs. Bond had the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Keegan in entertaining as the three families had often been guests at previous meetings of the tennis club. Probably no gathering of the club has been quite so merry or so funny as this one. Everything was burlesqued from decorations to the guests themselves and their various professions and if shouts of laughter reached the neighbors during the evening it was unavoidable.

Mrs. Frank Cornish, assisted by her daughter, Miss Irma, entertained a company of friends on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Eva Uran, who will leave next Monday for her home in Seattle, Wash. The guests brought stamped and addressed post cards which they showered on Miss Uran with the request that during her trip she would write a message on each one and mail them. Vases of sweet syringa blossoms lent fragrance to the rooms and games and other entertainment in the way of refreshments, daintily served, made the occasion a pleasant one to be long remembered. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Buck and George Buck, jr., Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Duesler, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Uran, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kruse, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hengsteler, Miss Lois Duesler, Harold Duesler, Kenneth Uran and Charles Hengsteler.

Schible—Martin.

Miss Esther Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin, of 633 Hendricks street, and Mr. Paul Schible, a son of Mrs. Teresa Schible, were united in marriage on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. In the presence of relatives and friends and in front of a grouping of palms the bridal couple took their stand and Rev. Dr. A. K. Zartman, of Grace Reformed church, performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Miss Edith Schuster as the bride and groom and their attendants, Miss Margaret Weigman and Mr. William Lamb, entered the parlor. The bride looked very sweet and attractive in her pretty wedding costume. Her gown was a white batiste trimmed with fine tucks, embroideries and lace. A white rosebud in her hair and a bouquet of bride roses and ferns tied with white satin ribbon completed the pretty costume. Miss Wiegman wore a cream color voile and held a bouquet of white carnations. The house was decorated with garden flowers and ferns. In the parlor there were vases of marguerites and pink and white carnations and especially pretty was a small round table filled with garden flowers, particularly roses, a gift from the bridegroom's mother. Delicious refreshments, appropriate for the occasion, were served after congratulations had been extended the bridal couple. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Schible were assisted at the time by Miss Ethel Stark and Miss Edna Hamilton. A table was set in the yard and electric lights had been put up for the occasion. During the evening music was furnished by Mr. Fred Knuth. There were over sixty guests present, among them being the bridegroom's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Large, of Lafayette, and relatives of the Martin family from Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKinley. Mrs. Allwell, from Lafayette, a family friend, was also present. For the present the bride and groom will live with her parents in Hendricks street. Mr. Schible is employed by Heit, Miller & Lau.

Richardson—Ertle.

Miss Estella Ertle and Mr. James Richardson were married on Thursday morning in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. J. F. Delany celebrated the nuptial mass. Miss Bertha Becker and Mr. George Young, both of Huntington, acted as bridesmaid and groomsman to the bridal couple. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white marquisette over satin and a white hat, trimmed with white plumes. She carried a prayerbook with a white ribbon bookmark that was mingled with white and pink rosebuds and looked very pretty. Miss Becker was gowned in a pink chiffon, hung over Japanese silk and trimmed with white lace and wore white hat trimmed with plumes and pink roses. The bridesmaid's bouquet was of pink and white rosebuds. After the marriage service the wedding party and a few friends and relatives were driven to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ertle, of 236 West Williams street and were served a bountiful wedding breakfast. The house was decorated with garden flowers and the bride's table in smilax and roses with festoons of pink above the table. A bride's cake formed part of the table decoration and it was cut and passed by the bride. Mrs. Sarah Richardson and Miss Hilda Becker, of Huntington, and Mrs. Caroline Chandler and Miss Aura Buckley, of Peru, were out of town guests present. For the present the bride and groom, who are very popular young people with all who know them, will live with the bride's parents. Later they will go to housekeeping. Mr. Richardson is an electrician employed by Eugene Pauley, electrical contractor.

Sites—Seslar.

A pretty bride of the week was Miss Edith Seslar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Seslar, of 3208 Dinnen avenue, whose marriage to Mr. Ralph Sites took place on Thursday evening. Rev. J. H. McCartney officiated at the ceremony. An elaborate supper was served after congratulations had been extended. The bride wore a gown of white marquisette and held bride roses and white sweetpeas. The decorations of the house were garden flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Sites left this morning for Detroit, Mich., where they will live. Mr. Sites is a machinist. The bride is an attractive young woman who is well fitted to take care of a home.

SAILOR COLLARS.

By MRS. JANE FORD.

4 SIZES 6 TO 12 YRS.

Deep sailor collars, with long revers that come well down the front of the dress, are a feature this season for all ages, and they lend themselves well to trimming of braid or embroidery. Separate collars are as familiar in the children's wardrobe as in that of the grownups, and wide drooping collars of Irish point are seen on handsome dresses of both heavy and sheer materials.

A particularly attractive little model, on which the sailor collar is a feature, is offered, and, of course, there are many washable fabrics from which it may be made.

Mothers who wish to copy this dress will find that the work of making will be greatly simplified if the body portion and skirt are each completely finished before they are joined at the waist line. The applied piece that effects the closing at the front is not placed until the dress is completed, and as a finish the edges are stitched. The shield is made separately, and may be discarded if desired.

A very stylish and useful little dress could be made of tan linen and trimmed with collar and cuffs of dark brown linen.

To copy this dress for a child eight years of age it requires four and five-eighths yards of goods twenty-seven inches wide.

RECIPES.

Raised Graham Biscuit.

Scald one pint of milk; dissolve in it one tablespoonful of butter and one-half of a teaspoonful of salt; when cool add two tablespoonfuls of molasses and one-half of a yeastcake dissolved in a little warm water. Add sufficient white flour to make a thin batter, beat until smooth and set in a warm place until light. When spongy sift into the batter sufficient graham meal to make a soft dough, turn out on a floured board and knead until soft, elastic and no longer sticky. Return to the bowl, cover and set aside again; when the dough has fully doubled in size turn out carefully on the board, roll out one inch thick and cut into small biscuits. Place close together in a greased pan, brush over with milk and when risen bake in a quick oven.

Cherry Charlotte.

Wash and pit a pint of cherries. Simmer the pits in a half pint of water for fifteen minutes, skim them out, add the fruit and two-thirds of a cupful of sugar and simmer gently until tender. Rub through a sieve and keep warm. In the meantime soak a half package of granulated gelatine in a half cupful of cold water, then stand over hot water until dissolved. Add this to the prepared fruit pulp and stand aside until cold and beginning to thicken. Have ready a pint of heavy cream which has been whipped to a solid froth; carefully blend it with the thickening mixture and turn into a glass or other serving dish. Garnish with a few large cherries.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

A vogue that has come into great popularity is the short separate train to dinner, dance and even afternoon gowns, so arranged that it can, if required, be carried over the arm. Frequently in the case of a dance dress this train will be of some diaphanous material, really scarcely more than a sash end, but one distinctly trailing. The advent of the detached train and its attendant manipulations is of far greater import than even its designers conjectured. It combines the essentials of grace and comfort, an alliance not always to be met with in so strikingly smart a mode.

To run from the sublime to the severely practical, the early presence of many dainty little tub frocks engenders the reflection of how popular are the washing materials of the moment. Following on the success of cambric, plain and striped ginghams, comes a washing Japanese crepe, a charming material, in a very long choice of delightful colors. Akin to everything else at the moment, the simpler the tub frock the more alluring it is. Perfectly delicious and extraordinarily telling touches are imparted, perhaps, by two large self-colored buttons and some quaint buckle at the wist in front. One model was fashioned of the above mentioned crepe in a sweet pansy shade of mauve, and was ornamented in a diagonal line from the right shoulder to the hem of the skirt at the left side, with detached groups of small self-colored buttons and mock loops.

In this particular instance the collar took a square shape and was caught down in front with two little straps of black ribbon velvet. Black patent leather belts also figure conspicuously in connection with these washing frocks when the waist is any way placed at a belt wearing level; otherwise a heavy piping is used, or the favorite black velvet with broad, flat bow in front. A contrasting touch of this description that can be easily removed when the gown requires to be passed through the laundress' hands, is reasonable enough, but there is an entirely incongruous note struck by the introduction of satin pipings and the like in the so-called tub frock, the latter at once losing its "raison d'etre" under such treatment.

Apropos of cool summer possessions, many alluring and dainty fancies are being worked out in linen and in coat and skirt style. Finally braided in self tones, the coats either rather long and clearly defining the figure, or hip length and cut much straighter, the linen suit is prepared to take its place as before. A rose colored linen suit is so chic, made very simply, with a little coat that fastens close up to the neck, beneath a dainty lingerie collar, the fronts from there falling apart. Or a white linen is rendered of quite particular importance by a collar of rose colored linen and small round rose colored buttons, like little cherries.

SEX HYGIENE IS GIVEN DISCUSSION

Vital Topic Presented at Conference of Charities and Corrections.

WOMAN GIVES VIEWS

Boston, June 9.—Three section meetings of the thirty-eighth annual conference of charities and corrections were held here this forenoon. "Sex hygiene" was the topic at the Ford hall meeting.

At the same hour delegates interested in temperance and the care of inebriates held a continued meeting in Twentieth Century hall for further discussion of the liquor question. The speakers were Prof. A. R. Hatton, of Cleveland, and Dr. Irwin Neuff, of the Massachusetts Hospital for Inebriates. A general discussion of the question followed the papers, the practical social workers giving their views on the care of unfortunates and necessary legislation.

A section meeting, continuing the subject of housing and recreation at Lorimer hall, numbered among its speakers Miss Mary E. Richmond, of New York, and Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon, of Evansville, Ind.

That children should early be taught the facts of procreation and sex hygiene was the burden of an address by Miss Laura B. Garrett, of New York, before the section on children. "Today a great scourge of physical and moral degradation," said the speaker, "is sweeping over our land because we in ignorance have not grasped the situation but we foolishly expect purity in our people when they have been improperly taught from babyhood. Today doctors and laymen are organizing into societies whose object is to study the prevention and the cure of the so-called 'Great Black Plague.' The best means of prevention, legislative, moral and social, are being studied and employed. The enlightenment of the public respecting the social evil and the education of the young must be accomplished by all working together."

MUSICAL CONTEST TONIGHT.

Seventh and Eighth Grade Pupils to Sing at High School Auditorium.

Under the direction of Prof. William Miles, with Miss Helene Spindler at the piano, the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of different public school buildings, will sing in a contest tonight in the auditorium of the High and Manual Training school, in Barr street. A competent judge, William ApMadoc, of Chicago, will decide who are the winners.

RECEIVED HONORS IN MUSIC.

Misses Irene and Marie Miller and Irene Gordon Graduate in Music from St. Catherine's.

Months and years of conscientious practicing and application to the study of music bore fruits last evening to three young girls of St. Catherine's academy when at the close of a successful rendition of a program of difficult piano selections Misses Irene Catherine Gordon, Miss Marie Cecelia Miller and Miss Irene Josephine Miller received the gold medal awards from the school, in the presence of a large audience of friends and relatives. These young ladies have just completed the course of study in music at St. Catherine's and the program of selections from the best masters was a difficult one, while the rendition displayed talent and accomplishment on the part of each student and careful and thorough teaching on the part of the instructors. When the medals were conferred on the three young ladies by Rev. J. F. Delaney, of St. Patrick's church, the audience recognized the distinction and the honor which the students so well deserved and bestowed prolonged applause upon them. The program itself had been listened to with every evidence of pleasure and each number was received with hearty appreciation of the playing. Assisting in the program with vocal numbers to lend a little variety were Miss Celeste Miller, who has a very sweet and clear soprano voice and Carl Weber, the well known tenor of the Cathedral choir. Both vocalists appeared twice on the program and were obliged to sing to encores.

The young musicians presented a most modest and sweet appearance in their dainty and pretty white dresses and their arms were filled with flowers at the close of each number they gave, by a little girl who stepped from behind the scenes to offer the gifts. The stage was also beautifully decorated with flowers for the evening and made a fitting background for the informal reception which was held for the graduating class after the program.

ONE ARBITRATION TREATY FOR ALL

Powers May Agree to Draft Based on the Anglo-American Pact.

GERMANY LEADS WAY

Washington, June 9.—Whether the great powers can agree to the principle of one draft for an arbitration treaty to include questions of national honor and independence without limiting the number of signatories is the latest development in the movement for international arbitration. This is the result of what has been done by the United States and England in negotiating an arbitration pact.

It was purposed by the ambassadors of the powers now in Washington to discuss the matter among themselves with hopes of reaching an agreement or a tentative working basis during the week, but upon second consideration they found it would require more time.

The world is informed by these diplomats, however, that the equalization of arbitration treaties is what is wanted and that the same view is entertained by Secretary of State Knox. He is seeking a way to expedite it. Whether the matter will be considered by the foreign representatives independently of the state department, subject to presentation to this government of their findings, or will be taken up through the direct participation of Secretary Knox, has not yet been determined.

The equalization of proposed treaties originated with Germany. This, according to diplomats here, will be the only way in which the German government will participate in a general arbitration movement. The German government, the World is informed through the German embassy, will not consider compulsory arbitration. Such arbitration is favored by Russia. It is probable that Germany will draft suggestions independently of the American draft of the Anglo-American document requested by Ambassador Bernstorff Monday. That action, the embassy assures, is informal.

Want an Automatic Treaty.

The reasons advanced by diplomats for the equalization of proposed treaties is an automatic avoidance of technical differences by elimination of varying provisions which would occur in separate agreements, and which would give rise to conflicting theories in the settlement of probable differences.

There also has been a report current in foreign circles here that a suggestion to define in the treaties the respective officials who would be authorized to arbitrate differences under their provisions might be incorporated in one of the forthcoming tentative drafts to be submitted by the foreign powers. It is held that the personal equation contingent upon the selection of plentipotentiary ambassadors or members of a commission on inquiry, or other men composing a body with authority to arbitrate, would also be done away with. In strong support of this theory is Secretary Knox, who practically embodied his views by the specification that the members of the court of inquiry must be nations of The Hague tribunal. This limits a choice of the personnel.

Whether to specify fixed offices, whose holders would be eligible to appointment, or merely define candidates by limiting the source of selection to members of the legislative or executive bodies, federal courts or diplomatic officers, is one of the questions that will be taken up by Ambassadors Bryce, Jesserand, Bernstorff and Uchida, when they get together. It is expected that if it is agreed that there are to be two members on each side, one will represent the legislative body and another the judicial, and if three members are agreed to, that the third should be an individual other than a military or a naval man.

Ignore Army and Navy Men.

There is a decided influence against the recognition of the armed service in connection with the treaties. It is explained that this attitude is traceable to the spirit of the arbitration, whose tenor and purport is to neutralize, if not to nullify, the military and naval sides of diplomacy. And unless there is a prohibition of appointing military men, either through limitation of membership or by specifying the particular office eligible, it is always probable that the military service will find representation on the arbitral board.

The negotiations for the Anglo-American treaty are now subject to the return of the American suggestions by the British foreign office. It is expected that these will be in the hands of Ambassador Bryce by the end of the week. The state department is awaiting British official action and the British ambassador is withholding further suggestions until that time.

Theer are prospects that Italy, the only power so far that has not taken either official or informal notice of the treaty negotiations, will soon notify the state department of her willingness to negotiate an Italo-American treaty. That Mexico, Brazil and Argentina will eventually become signatories to arbitration treaties, the American basis as the pivotal agreement, is also expected. The state department, and particularly Secretary Knox, would not be surprised if a request to this effect is made in June.

WILL RETURN TO ISTHMUS.

Credo Calhoun, Rising Young Writer of Indiana, to go Back to Canal.

After spending a year's vacation in the beneficial climate of this country, Credo H. Calhoun, of Columbia City, one of the coming short story writers of the present time, will return to the tropics, where he has spent much of his life.

Mr. Calhoun is an Indiana boy who has established a mark in the literary world. He was born at the village of Liberty Mills, in Wabash county, and gained his early schooling in the schools of North Manchester. After graduating from high school he obtained employment in the government service and when the work on the Panama canal was started he was transferred to the canal zone.

About four years ago the young man began gaining prominence in the eastern metropolitan newspapers by his descriptions of the work on the isthmus. In the meantime Mr. Calhoun has taken up the writing of fiction and many of the leading magazines of the country have published short stories by the young author. Frank A. Munsey company, Doubleday Page, Street & Smith, Lippencott's Red Book, Morrison's Chicago Weekly and the New York Herald have been the principal purchasers of the Indiana boy's manuscripts.

Mr. Calhoun will return to Miraflores, Panama, about the 20th of this month, and his intention is to remain on the scenes of the great work until the canal is opened in 1915.

WIN HUTZELL MEDALS.

Nebraska School Students Who Made Best Grades.

Awards of the Joseph Hutzell gold medals to the boy and girl in both primary and grammar grades of the Nebraska school with highest average in attendance, deportment and scholarship for the year have been announced by Principal A. P. Leverton.

The winners are Robert Warren, son of Mrs. Kate Warren, 5 B grade, average 97 6-10; Emma Prange, daughter of Mr. Charles Prange, 7 B grade, average 99 33-100, both of the grammar grades, and Dwight Shirey, son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. O. Shirey, 2 A grade, average 95 6-10, and Velma Holt, daughter of Ervin Holt, 3 A grade, average 99 32-100, of the primary grade.

The presentation of the medals will occur at Bethany Presbyterian church next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Superintendent Study will preside and J. McBeth Smith, secretary of the school board, will make the presentation address.

WHAT AILS NEW ZEALAND?

The Woman Vote There Has Seemed to Accomplish Little.

It should be of some interest to the advocates of woman suffrage, both here and in England, to study the political conditions in New Zealand, which has long tried the experiment of votes for women, says the Forum. The statistics show that the women do not neglect the responsibilities of the ballot, as more than three-quarters of those entitled to vote actually do so—a slightly larger percentage than that of the men. Yet the results of their activity have been unimportant. The no-license movement has been strengthened a little, perhaps; but not conspicuously. The general tendency of politics has undoubtedly been downward; the "boss" and the "machine," with their inevitable corruption, are now as strongly intrenched as in this country. It would be illogical to blame the women for this deterioration; yet, at the best, their voting power seems to have been singularly profitless.

WERE GUESTS AT DINNER.

P. A. Randall Entertains Score of Friends Informally.

P. A. Randall was host at an informal dinner served Thursday evening to a score or more of his business friends at the Randall hotel, and some impromptu talks followed, the speakers including Judge O. N. Heaton, Judge W. J. Vesey and C. S. Bash. Naturally, with Mr. Randall's untiring efforts and tremendous enthusiasm for the Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago barge canal, talk drifted upon that subject. The diners will insist that the first boat to ply the waters of the canal when it shall be completed shall be named the "Perry A. Randall."

CORNS PITCHES FIRST SHUT-OUT GAME

CORNS TOOK FIRST SHUT-OUT FOR HOME SQUAD ON LOCAL BALL YARD

Put on an Exhibition Full of Thrills But Good Support and Hard Hitting Behind Him Took Last from Grand Rapids.

Harry Corns staged a shut-out on the Varnell plot in the closing argument with the Grand Rapids outcasts and it is the first that the home guard has registered this season before a local gathering. The outcome was seven to nothing and it was not over until the last man was out in the ninth.

Wild tossing punctuated the battle with thrills and there were two or three occasions on which Captain Jack Pendry or any of his talent could have stowed the conflict with a good healthy blow but with the game in danger Corn's support rallied around him and steadied him up until he finally landed.

The first of said thrills came in the second round when, after vainly trying to keen the ball low on Wickland, Corns got himself in a hole and had to get one over for the midget gardener. He rattled a board in the left field fence and halted at second base.

Then the portsider tore one through that almost annexed one of Jack Pendry's legs en route and the nifty little captain honned down to first. Big Cecil Gray was not equal to the task of sacrificing and he rolled one to Corns who nabbed Wickland at third but left two on and only one down. Pendry and Gray staged a double steal after Kihm had popped to Keener and Corns passed McDonough filling the bases. Goldrick was advised to win his own game with a blow but he hit a high fly and Eddie Justice nabbed him.

Bill Goldrick was sent in to cop the closing contest because he had given such a good account of himself in the opening chapter. He went along in pretty fair shape to the seventh when the blowoff smothered him and he had no chance to win.

Thrill No. 2 happened in the fourth. Pendry drew a pass and Gray advanced him with a bunt. Kihm was passed and with McDonough in the scrap heap Goldrick got transportation filling the bases once more. Steve Ragan was not equal to the emergency and he went down short to first.

A fourth thrill was put on in the sixth when Clancy let Gray knock the ball out of his hand with his knee after Casey had gobbled the big fielder's grounder. Kihm landed for one that hit left field fence on the first bound and a fast runner would have scored the tieing run but Gray barely got to third. One man had been retired and Corns tightened up and fanned McDonough and Goldrick.

Another thrill closed the engagement. Vandagrift fell down on an easy grounder off Ragan's bat, Murray flew to center, Core scratched a hit to second base, Wickland popped and Pendry was passed filling up the bags again. Gray hit a high fly to Casey and the game was over.

Vandagrift made Fort Wayne's first run in the fourth when he hit, moved up on Keener's sacrifice and scored on Young's hit to right. With Justice gone in the seventh Onslow hit to middle and Corns drove one at Murray and was retired. Blount hit to left and Vandagrift was passed. Keener cleaned the bases with a double and then scored on Young's home run over right field fence.

Features of the Game.

Keener made a brilliant catch of McDonough's fly in the eighth. He caught the ball out at the fence over his shoulder and then did a tumble.

Eddie Justice went way over the left foul line for McDonough's fly in the fourth and made a great catch.

Jack Pendry saved a run when he went into the air in the fourth and pulled down the ball which Core had thrown over his head. There were two runners on at the time.

Casey's double went to the right field bank. Core sat down as he was trying to field it and when he got up he yelled to the boss: "Hey, you, hit 'em in the field. I'll break my neck trying to go up that bank."

Casey made a difficult catch of Murray's foul in the seventh.

Young had hard luck in the second. Goldrick shot one close up to his face and in trying to get away from it he let it tip his bat for the third strike and McDonough nipped it.

Gray gave an exhibition of sprinting when he nipped Blount's fly in the fifth inning.

BATTLE TO A DRAW.

Clabby and Brown Both Fighting at End of the Bout.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Jimmy Clabby, of Hammond, and George (Knockout) Brown, of Chicago, went ten fast rounds to a draw at Hammond last night. While Clabby had a shade in cleverness the Chicago man was strong and forced the fighting throughout. Neither was in distress at any stage and both finished strong.

Clabby's cleverness did not show to as great an advantage as was expected. He could not escape the fierce rushes and was forced to fight at close quarters the greater part of the time. Brown's swings did not connect often, but when they did find a mark it was usually on the glove, neck or back. He used his left to an advantage at times and played for the body throughout.

IN THE SHAMROCK FOLD

"Buck" Benoy will be Al Ringle's selection for mound duty in the city championship series at League park. The big Pennsylvania twirler is in good condition and anxious for another go at the Shamrocks. Smith, Seitz or Robbins will pitch for the Shamrocks. Play will be called at 3 o'clock. Cook will umpire.

The Pennsylvania must win the remaining four games of the city championship series, if the Railroaders take home the bacon. If the Shamrocks win the curtain will be rung down on the series.

The city series has furnished some nice semi-pro exhibitions, which have been fought hard all the way.

LEFT TWO PITCHERS HERE.

Members of the Fort Wayne team with the exception of Charlie Alberts and Herman Werder left for South Bend today for a series of four days. Alberts' pitching hand is sore and Werder worked this week and will not be needed.

LEAGUE TO TAKE TEAM AT DAYTON

Directors Will Meet on Monday Instead of the Sabbath.

THE TEAM OWES $4,000

[Special to The Sentinel.]

South Bend, Ind., June 9.—Dr. F. R. Carson, president of the Central league, has gone to Dayton where he will place his son, Clark Carson, in charge of the finances of the Grand Rapids club until the directors have decided at the meeting on Monday what will be done with the franchise. The doctor found that a number of the club owners could not be present on Sunday and he changed the date of the gathering.

As near as the president can get to the indebtedness of the Grand Rapids team indicates that there is about $4,000 unpaid and that part of this is due the street railway company for the rent of the park. When the talk of a downtown park became public the company got insistent and wanted its pay before opening the gates at Romona. This was primarily the cause of the transfer of the games to Fort Wayne and to Dayton.

The attendance at Grand Rapids has been fair and there is no reason why the club should have fallen so much in arrears unless it can be charged to the negligence of Dr. Parker whose attention has not been given to the financial end of the game. Bert Annis holds notes for $7,500 that will fall due in July and he may be forced to take back the franchise to square himself.

SAYS CLUB WILL STAY.

Assures Baseball Public That Grand Rapids Will Be Held.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 8.—Dr. F. R. Carson has given out the following interview relative to the Grand Rapids situation:

"You may tell the people of Grand Rapids that the club will return on June 21 for its regularly scheduled game with Zanesville.

"The league is right now making the best of a very bad situation and begs your indulgence until the team can get set right. Expediency has compelled the transfer of the series beginning Friday to Dayton.

"The league is now in charge of the team and all legitimate obligations will be met. The double series in Dayton and Fort Wayne prior to their return on June 21 will give an excellent opportunity to recoup a lot of losses, and when we do get back to Grand Rapids we will be on a firm footing.

"A matter of something like $4,000 cannot be met in a few days, but this road series, the way your team is going, will set us right.

"Parker may return as playing manager of the team. The team will positively return to Grand Rapids.

"You may discredit absolutely any rumors to the contrary.

"The Central league could not be tempted into giving Grand Rapids up. I now consider it, with the possible exception of Dayton, the one best bet of Central league cities.

"Grand Rapids has a great team. I greatly deplore having to transfer the two home series, but it happens to be the only course possible at present. The team is winning with gratifying regularity away from home. It deserves, and I am sure will be given, the cordial support of citizens of Grand Rapids, once confidence is restored there. And it will be restored, and speedily.

"The attendance thus far this season has been good in Grand Rapids. The people of your city are in no way to blame for the unpleasant situation. We ask their patience for a few days. Then they will have back there the best team that ever represented them in baseball, all just obligations will be squared and things will run smoothly."

LEFT HERE TODAY.

The Grand Rapids team left Fort Wayne for Dayton at 1 o'clock this morning. Dr. Harley Parker, who went to Chicago Wednesday night, did not return to take charge of his men and they left in charge of Jack Pendry.

BILLY PAPKE WINS BOUT.

London, June 9.—Billy Papke, the American middle-weight, last night took the measure of Jim Sullivan, the middle-weight champion of England, in nine rounds of fast and furious fighting. Again it was the fighter against the boxer, and the fighter won with ease.

The contest was for the middle-weight championship of the world, a purse of $10,000 and a side bet. It was pulled off under the management of Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian promoter, in Palladium, one of London's noted music halls, before a large crowd.

PENNANT DAY IS TO BE SELECTED

May Be Held at South Bend June 21 With Wheeling Club.

GRANT MAKES A KICK

South Bend, Ind., June 8.—Before Owner Bert Annis of the South Bend Central league club leaves with the team for the next road trip, Monday night, it is probable that the date for the pennant-raising, the red letter event of the 1911 local baseball season, will have been selected. Annis hopes to have arrangements for the affair partially completed within the next few days.

According to present plans, the affair will take place immediately following the return of the club from the road trip. The Benders will open a three day series with Wheeling on June 21, and it is not improbable that on one of those three days the bunting won last year will be hauled up.

Pennant raising day will be a gala event for South Bend fans. On that day the highly prized flag which the 1910 braves won will be raised on the new flagpole erected in center field where it will remain for the balance of the season.

One 40-word telegram from Manager Aggie Grant, explaining why he should not be fined $25 for dilatory tactics in Tuesday's game which resulted in his being ordered off the grounds, was received at headquarters today. After waiting for Evansville's side of the story until yesterday, Dr. Carson sent in notice of the fine assessed the Eva boss, whereupon the explanation message by wire was sent him. Grant claimed he had gone to the bench to change his shoes, and was getting out as quickly as possible, when Umpire Cleary forfeited the game. Cleary's report of the contest states he had been driven nearly crazy by the harranguing of the Eva manager, two hours being required for the four innings played.

TERRE HAUTE SELLS CARNEY.

First Baseman Did Not Like the Central League, He Said.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 8.—The management of the Terre Haute Central league team yesterday sold "Kit" Carney, the crack young first baseman, who it was supposed would join Terre Haute at Wheeling Monday, to the Troy team of the New York State league. It appears that Carney, who is looked upon as a comer, preferred to play ball nearer his home and the local management did not care to take on a player who had made it plain that he did not care to play here. Carney was secured by Terre Haute from Utica last winter. It had been the intention of the management to put Carney on first the moment he reported.

L. D. Smith has gone to Milwaukee, where he will hunt up Manager Kelley, of the St. Paul A. A. team, and get Infielder Kohl, whom he purchased some weeks ago. Kelley has been holding Kohl until a cripple rounds into condition. Smith also went prepared to buy another player or two, should the right men be offered.

FROM THE BOX SCORES

Harry Welchone, on whom waivers were secured and for whom South Bend made an offer of $1,000, hit three times for Philadelphia in the game at Cincinnati yesterday and also spiked Downey and forced him out of the game. Paskert was fined for disputing a decision and canned out of the game.

Ed Ruelbach held Brooklyn to four hits in the game at Chicago and two of these went to Hummel.

Bridwell scored the winning run for New York at Pittsburg on a fumble by Jack Miller.

Cliff Curtis was again knocked out of the box at St. Louis in the third inning, having received this kind of treatment in his previous start.

Walter Johnson showed speed against Cleveland and Washington won the game after knocking Mitchell out of the box.

Bill Donovan made the first start of the season against the Athletics and with the aid of heavy hitting Detroit won. Plank was hit fifteen times.

Russel Ford got his from the White Sox. He was hit thirteen times and lost his game.

HARD LUCK HITS THE RAIDY TEAM

Manager is Forced Into the Game and Infield Shot to Pieces.

DAYTON WINS A GAME

Joe Raidy has to take time out now and then to quit thinking of June brides and roses to bother a little about his baseball team which is all shot to pieces and which has hit the slides hard in the last ten days.

Joe apparently has a good excuse and his line-up shows he has been forced into the game himself by the absence of Ned Crowder, has had to play an amatuer in the outfield on account of the injury to Reilley and has a man at second who was purchased to play an outfield position.

In the closing argument with Aggie Grant's team he went into the seventh one run to the good and then the venerable Jack Taylor clouted one of Connolly's offerings for a long drive and won the game for the HooHoos.

Jack Compton had South Bend tamed all through the closing clash of the Dayton series and the Vets took three out of four games by winning the last one. John Henry Meyers tossed good ball against the leaders but there was never a chance for him to win on account of the great work of his opponent.

Eddie Wheeler got an even break out of the double bill at Wheeling, taking the first game from Doak and losing the second to Kronau. The nine runs made by the Tots in the last game were all counted in the first and second innings. The scores:

HONUS STILL ON THE DEMON JOB

"Hans" Wagner, the demon clouter in the National league, is the same old terror to pitchers as of yore. The bow-legged Teuton has been there a long time, but looks good for many years to come.

LITTLE BITS OF SPORT CHATTER

A reunion of the Ganzel family of baseball players has been arranged for Kalamazoo. The shining light of the family is John Ganzel, now manager and third-owner of the Rochester Eastern league team.

Major leaguers declare that if big Ed Walsh, king of the American league spitters, makes up his mind to play first that he will develop into one of the greatest initial sackers in the game. Walsh is a slugger and has shown considerable ability ghout first base.

Charles Somers, of the Cleveland club, is the chief backer of a syndicate that has recently purchased the New Orleans franchise in the Southern league.

Dayton is the only club in the Central league that has not been shut out this season.

More interest might be created in Central league baseball if the newspapers would take more interest at Grand Rapids. The box scores of the Detroit and all Michigan State league games are printed and only the box score of the games in which Grand Rapids figures.

It is said that Dr. Carson is investigating the report that one of the South Bend players used bad language on the grounds there. The men have been doing it all over the league for years and that case at South Bend must be aggravated if it was called to the attention of the president.

There is that old weakening at Zanesville that ought to put the town back in a bush league. Newspapers are saying that the city is having the best baseball in its history but that patronage is bad. Right on top of this figures are sent out showing that crowds of nearly 500 are present at the week day games.

Since Umpire Cleary forfeited a game to Zanesville after he had ordered Grant off the lot in an effort to stop wrangling that consumed most of the two hours consumed in the first four innings, writers at Evansville have been telling President Carson what kind of umpires to get. They want the kind that never makes mistakes.

Getting "Harry Davis day" disposed of seems to be attended with much difficulty. It was to have been observed on Wednesday last, and again on Monday, but each time rain butted in and made the event impossible. It is supposed that it will now be postponed until the next eastern trip of the Nans. President Somers had offered his entire share of yesterday's receipts, and his offer still holds good. The Cleveland club is said to prefer to be the donor, not allowing any other organization to step in and make the gift.

TROPHY FOR OCEAN YACHT RACE

CUP TO BE AWARDED WINNER OF BOSTON-BERMUDA RACE BY CITY OF BOSTON.

Boston, June 9.—For the winner of the Boston-Bermuda yacht race, which is scheduled to start June 10, the city of Boston has given a $500 cup. Standing twenty-four inches on the outside and twelve inches on the inside, in the form of a punch bowl, the trophy is composed of sterling silver with a gold lined bowl, and weighs 200 ounces. The handles are formed of the figures of Victory, a female figure with arms extending, holding a wreath.

Supporting the bowl is a four cornered silver base with a dolphin in each corner, while the entire trophy rests upon an ebony base four inches high. On one side of the bowl a representation of a yacht race is etched and the other side has space reserved for an inscription of the name of the winning yacht.

IN MEMORY OF DEAD BRETHREN

B. L. E. and Auxiliary to Hold Memorial Services Sunday.

G. B. M'CORMICK IS SIGNALLY HONORED

Grand Lodge of B. R. T. Presents Him With Gold Button.

Memorial day will be jointly observed this year by Fort Wayne division, No. 12, and Nickel Plate division, No. 537, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Friendship division, No. 18, Grand International Auxiliary to the B. L. E. The services will be held in B. L. E. hall, at 1018 Calhoun street, Sunday afternoon, June 11, beginning at 3 o'clock. All members of the three lodges, with the members of their families and the widows of deceased members of the order are earnestly requested to be present.

LONGEST IN B. R. T.

George B. McCormick Presented With Membership Button.

Conductor George B. McCormick, of the Nickel Plate, was signally honored yesterday by the presentation of a twenty-five years' membership button by the grand officers of the B. R. T. The jewel was accompanied by a letter of congratulation from A. E. King, general secretary and treasurer of the B. R. T., which will also be preserved as a valuable memento. The button is a round solid gold plate, with a handsomely carved margin surrounding an enameled inlaid centerpiece bearing the legend, "Twenty-five Years Membership B. of R. T." In the box with the pin was a cord bearing the following: "Grand Lodge Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. This is to certify that Mr. George B. McCormick, of lodge No. 136, was admitted to the B. R. T. April 29, 1886, and on April 19, 1911, had been in good standing with the organization twenty-five years and is entitled to wear the brotherhood's veteran button."

CONDUCTOR GEO. B. McCORMICK,

Who Has Been Honored by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

force some years ago and was out of the order for some time.

George B. McCormick has been railroading since 1875, when he became a brakeman on the Wabash, running in and out of Lafayette, which was then a terminal point. In 1879 he became a brakeman on the C., H. & D., with headquarters in Lima, and in 1884 he came to this city and took a position as brakeman with the Nickel Plate and two and a half years later was promoted to a conductorship. He has been with the road continuously since 1884, now having one of the preferred runs on the third district, between Fort Wayne and Bellevue. He is also a member of the Nickel Plate Veterans' association, organized three years ago, and which will hold its annual convention in Buffalo next September.

SAY CROWD WILL BE BIG.

About 3,500 People Will Compose Pennsy Excursion.

Never in the history of Pennsylvania employes' excursions was there as much interest displayed in the annual affair as is given the coming excursion to Maxinkuckee two weeks from next Monday, June 26. A partial canvass of the shops indicates that 95 per cent of the men will go and most of them will be accompanied by the members of their families. Yesterday B. F. Sarver, J. H. Hobrock and J. A. Graham, of the committee on grounds, visited Maxinkuckee to arrange for the entertainment of the employes and they say that the lake and grounds are more beautiful than ever. There are many new rowboats to let this year, all handsomely painted and in first-class condition, and the excursionists are to be given preference that day over other people in renting boats. The committee also secured the exclusive use of the big "White Swan" dancing boat for that day and the five big passenger steamers will be at the service of the excursionists the entire day. The committee secured the use of the Culver Military ball grounds for the game between the locomotive and the car department teams on excursion day. They also received assurances that the park grounds on that occasion will be provided with plenty of coffee and lunch stands and that there will not be a "hot coffee famine" this summer as there was last. Special rates were also secured from the hotel manager, the price for dinner being reduced from 75 cents to 50 cents. The Pennsylvania company has leased the hotel and its annexes to C. A. Shorter, who had charge of the hostelry in Culver. Many years ago, when Winona was known as Spring Fountain Park and was owned and controlled by Beyer brothers, Mr. Shorter had charge of the hotel. Many Fort Wayne people will remember him. Mr. Shorter's lease also includes the seven large cottages, which were handled in former years by the manager of the hotel.

FIRST PULLMAN CAR.

J. L. Barnes, of Chanute, Kan., the man who had charge of the first sleeping car made and later was a division superintendent on the Santa Fe, is still quite active, despite his advanced years, though he has been out of railroad work for some time. Mr. Barnes is spending a few days in Pittsburg and the Post of that city published the following interesting reminiscence related by him:

"In 1858 George M. Pullman arranged with the Chicago and Alton railway for two of their day coaches, which he fitted up as sleeping cars. Mr. Pullman, at that time, had an office on Madison street, in Chicago. I passed his office going to and from my boarding house, and on account of a notice in the papers that Mr. Pullman was going to put sleeping cars on the Chicago and Alton, I made application to him for a position as conductor.

"In September, 1858, he took me to Bloomington to bring out the first car that he had ready for use. This car, as I remember, was a low deck one and had been used for a long time as a passenger coach. It had rods running up and down at the end of each berth. The upper berth was pulled up on the rear side by a rope and pulley, and the front of the berth slip up on these rods and was fastened with an iron catch. The lower berth was made out of the two seats turned together.

"As I now remember, I was paid $2 a night and made my report in Mr. Pullman's office at the end of each round trip, deducting $4 from my collection for my pay. I understood, on one trip, that the man who ran opposite to me was short fifty cents of enough money to pay his own wages.

"At that time the Chicago and Alton trains ran between Chicago and Alton. Passengers for St. Louis took the boat from Alton to St. Louis. The train unloaded its passengers in front of the Alton house, which was located across the levee at Alton, and they walked down over the levee to the boat. The boat always was on hand to receive the passengers, and the evening train leaving Alton always was ready and backed down on the levee to receive the passengers from the boat when it arrived. J. J. Mitchell, I believe, was the owner of the boats carrying the passengers, and just before the breaking out of the civil war he had placed in this service a very beautiful boat called 'The City of Alton,' which was very popular.

"I remember well looking at one of the cars that was then used on the Lake Shore. This car was called 'Woodruff patent,' but was very unpopular on account of the two upper shelves, as they were actually only shelves, for people to sleep on. Mr. Pullman, after using the two old coaches a year or more, commenced the building of a new car, which was a very fine one. The construction of this car was in charge of a Mr. Field. At that time Mr. Pullman was in the mining business near Black Hawk, Col., and had not seen the car until he was at Alton, coming home from Colorado. I showed him the good points about the car, and I remember well what he said: 'It ought to be good; it cost enough.'"

SECTION HAND KILLED.

The Pennsylvania Manhattan limited struck and killed Peter George, a Macedonian section hand, near Warsaw yesterday afternoon. The man walked out on the tracks in front of the train in an effort, it is supposed, to get on the other side of the track before it reached him. The pilot picked him up, threw him ahead and picked him up a second time and threw him aside. The body was horribly mangled and death was instantaneous. It is said that the dead man leaves a wife and four children in the old country and that he had been here only two weeks.

The body was brought to this city last night and taken to the Schone & Ankenbruck undertaking parlors, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Lindenwood cemetery.

WERTMAN HEADS THE LIST.

No. 232, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, held the semi-annual election at Carpenters' hall last night with the following results:

S. L. Wertman, president.
C. W. Cunningham, vice president.
Fred Franke, recording secretary.
M. B. Hollenbeck, financial secretary.
R. W. Crick, treasurer.
Frank Simanton, trustee.
J. W. Elder, conductor.
Fred Hockemeyer, warden.
C. D. Fricke, J. W. Elder and C. A. Bergeman, trustees.

ENGINEER CARTER BETTER.

Engineer Peter Carter, of the Pennsylvania, who was taken suddenly and violently ill while making a run to Chicago and had to abandon the cab at Valparaiso several days ago, will soon be at the throttle again, if present progress towards recovery continues. There was a rumor out that Mr. Carter might have to submit to a surgical operation, but happily all occasion for it has passed and his complete recovery is only a matter of a few days.

WAGES ARE RAISED.

Machinists, boilermakers and car men employed by the Queen and Crescent route yesterday received notice that their wages had been raised two cents an hour. The order applies on the June payroll, and the men will draw the increased pay on July 19.

BOILERMAKER CRUSHES FINGER.

W. H. Smith, a boilermaker at the Pennsylvania shops, struck one of his fingers a terrific blow with a hammer at 5 o'clock last evening, crushing the digit badly. He will be unable to work for several days.

WILL HAVE SMALL CROWD.

The high school graduating class does not anticipate a very large excursion party to Rome City tomorrow and provision has not been made for over 150 people. The party will make the trip to the lake in two special cars attached to train No. 7, which will leave the city at 8:40 o'clock tomorrow morning. They will return on trains 8 and 6.

RESIGNED THEIR POSITIONS.

Miss DeEtta Friedline and Miss Anna Shaw, testers in the testing department of the General Electric lamp works, have resigned their positions, after being employed there nearly five years. Miss Friedline will accompany her parents to Florida to permanently reside and Miss Shaw will go to Minneapolis to spend the summer.

TAKING ON MORE MEN.

The Fort Wayne Electric works is making additions to its working force from time to time and this morning the following names were placed on the pay rolls: Philip Telley, Leo Poinsatte, George Haag, Otto Seigrist, Henry Erhart, William H. Phelps, A. J. Farrell and Leonard Miller.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Joseph English, of the Pennsylvania storeroom, is sick and off duty.

Pennsylvania Engineer H. D. Rose is sick and off duty.

G. E. Telley, J. H. Kamm, A. W. F. Meyers and F. X. Miller, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

C. O. Sweeney, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, will be absent several days on account of the death of a relative.

Mr. Singleton, of the Hocking Valley road, inspected a number of car wheels and car supplies at the Bass foundry yesterday.

W. C. Slater is at Wilmington, Del., looking after some business for the Bass Foundry and Machine company. He will return home Sunday.

Robert Hoham, a son of Machinist Henry Hoham, of the Pennsylvania shops, will compete for a Frank Thomson scholarship this year.

After spending the past two weeks on a vacation B. E. LeRoy has resumed his work in the car service department of the Nickel Plate railroad.

C. W. Moore resumed his duties at the Pennsylvania paint shop this morning. He had been in Indianapolis to see his brother graduate as a Dental student.

Samuel Dunbar, a hammersmith at the Pennsylvania shops, is taking an enforced lay off. Last evening his hammer went out of commission and is being repaired.

Machinist Will Thompson, of the Pennsylvania shops, is recovering from an attack which had the symptoms of typhoid fever. He will probably be able to resume work next week.

Paul Lichtle brought news of the birth of a daughter to the Bass foundry office this morning, where he is employed. Mr. Lichtle's family now include five girls and two boys.

Conductors Burns and Carr, of the Detroit division of the Wabash, senior men in the freight service, have been promoted to extra passenger conductors and are now engaged learning the Peru division between Montpelier, O., and Danville, Ill., over which they will run.

Herman Kase, a Pennsylvania fireman, developed a fine case of the measles yesterday and this morning went to the home of his parents in Huntington to remain until he recovers.

Auditors Goodekonz, Scott and Iloff, the latter representing the G. R. & I. and the two first named the Pennsylvania, are here today checking up Agent John E. Ross.

Master Mechanic G. W. Smith, of the Wabash, is in Springfield, Ill., today on business for the company.

HUNGARIAN PATRIOT HERE.

She Was Imprisoned When Five Years Old and Threatened With Death.

(Washington Post.)

Mme. Ambrozovics, a niece of Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, was introduced to President Taft recently by Representative McCall, of Massachusetts. Mme. Ambrozovics has had a most interesting career. She was thrown in jail when she was five years old, and was an exile from Hungary for many years.

The visitor is the daughter of Rudolph Meczlenyi, a lawyer and agriculturist, who died when she was only five years old, and of his wife, Susanna Kossuth, a sister of the Hungarian patriot. During the acts of Austrian oppression incident to the Hungarian revolution of 1848-9, she, as a young girl, was thrown into prison with her mother and others of the Kossuth connection, all of which were in imminent danger of suffering the penalty of death.

After their freedom was effected she came with her mother to America, when only ten years of age, and resided in New York, where she was educated. She subsequently returned to Hungary, and in 1875 married Bela Ambrozovics, an author of distinction and counselor of the Hungarian ministry of commerce, who died six years ago.

She is a woman of intellectual ability and broad culture. She reads and speaks with fluency English, Hungarian, German, French and Servish, and is to deliver in a few days a lecture on Hungary at Columbia university in New York.

THE FORESIGHT OF THOMAS.

"Thomas," the father said, while his quaking offspring stood before him, "didn't you go to the trunkmaker's yesterday, as I asked you to do?"

"Yes," Thomas answered.

"And didn't you tell him to send round the trunk I ordered?"

"Yes," answered Thomas again, nodding his head with conviction.

"Well, the trunk has arrived," pursued the parent, "but there isn't any strap to it. Did he say there wasn't one?"

"No—not exactly," admitted Thomas. But, you see, I told him you wouldn't need the strap!"—Answers, London.

EUROPE BROADENED HER.

Hereafter This Young Woman Will Sometimes Think of Others.

(Youth's Companion.)

"But it's absurd! All those stairs—and an elevator right here. You haven't the spunk of a mouse, Olive. Make him take us. I wish I could talk German!"

Olivia turned again to the mild and obstinate German who was showing them over the grand ducal palace.

"He says," she presently translated to the irate Mildred, "that we are Americans and do not understand. It is quite impossible. The elevator was put in especially for their serene highnesses. Nobody else uses it, except a few resident nobles of high rank, and very distinguished visitors or very infirm ones, like the aged mother of the little prince's governess. The governess herself, although they are very fond of her, and she lives in the top story, and is fat, and has been six years in their service, cannot use it. Evidently, Milly, it's hopeless. Cheer up, though. He says there are only about a hundred steps more."

"This is glorious!" sighed Mildred, on the roof. "But I wish I needn't remember, along with such a view, the piggy selfishness of those ridiculous little royalties, letting their poor fat governess puff herself into an apoplexy—"

"Oh, hush! You can't talk against the constituted authorities like that in Germany!" cried Olivia.

"I don't care," persisted Milly. "It makes me thankful that I'm an American—"

"Don't!" Olivia spoke sharply, and Milly looked at her in surprise. "Do you know what it's made me think of? That I'm an American who ought to be ashamed of myself! Last winter it was I who persuaded mother—almost bullied her—into taking that seventh-floor apartment we had. It was a gem, but—there wasn't any elevator for the maids, and they weren't allowed to use ours. Mother was worrying continually over Katy's being so pale and tired, and never wanting to go out. No wonder! Her room was in the basement, and her kitchen is flights up. I was a brute."

"But you didn't make the rule," consoled Milly.

"No; but I accepted it and made Katy suffer by it. Of course there ought to be two elevators; but when there aren't——. And it wasn't just a matter of mops and pails and working clothes, either. The maids couldn't use it when they were dressed for the street. Mildred, I feel myself reminiscently a snob. I'm worse than a grand duchess, for I ought to have known better."

"Anyway, we both know better now," assented Mildred, a bride to be, soberly, "and when Tom and I have our flat, I'll make sure the arrangements are not—grand ducal."

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Late estimates on the percentage of recoveries under the new emollient treatment for Bright's Disease are as follows:

Where patient is much weakened and crises may be expected in from five to ten days, probably not more than 10% to 20% recover. Where physicians aid with efforts to restrain fatal symptoms this percentage is increased. In cases where patients have from thirty to sixty days of life the efficiency is very much higher.

Where patients do not wait until bedridden probably three-fourths yield.

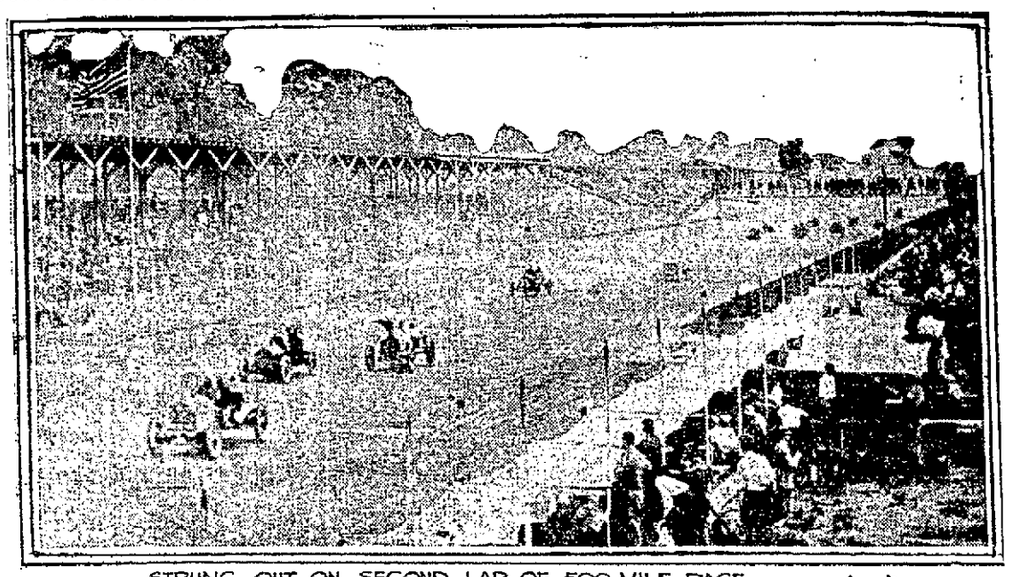
And in cases that take the new emollient treatment on the appearance of the disease nearly nine out of ten respond.

Albumen Casts and dropsy do not prevent recovery. The point is that the Renal inflammation should be attacked before the heart and physical system are broken down.

The new emollient treatment is known as Fulton's Renal Compound. It can be had in Fort Wayne at the D. & N. Pharmacy, 624 Calhoun St.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 615 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

SCENE DURING RECENT GREAT AUTO RACE AT INDIANAPOLIS.



STRUNG OUT ON SECOND LAP OF 500 MILE RACE.

Although it had been generally anticipated that the most dangerous part of the big race at Indianapolis would be the start, with all of the forty drivers jockeying for a forward position in order to escape crowding, the getaway was accomplished without the slightest mishap. The photograph herewith shows how the cars had become strung out in the first five miles of the race. As many had anticipated, a majority of the drivers were content to take things easy until the contest settled down and the early nervousness had disappeared.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You will find Chamberlain's Liniment wonderfully effective. One application will convince you of its merits. Try it. For sale by all dealers.

AND HE CROWS DEFEAT.

An Owner of a Rooster Sees the Onslaught of Suffragettes.

A woman in the Bedford Park section of the Bronx has written to the health department for a permit to keep a rooster, says the New York Tribune. She said Bedford Park is a "wild section," and until a new neighbor came to live in the neighborhood no one had ever complained of her rooster's crowing. The "new neighbor" made a complaint against the fowl in question and sought to have it destroyed. In her letter to the health department for the permit the owner of the rooster said:

"My old neighbors like to hear my rooster crow this woman is new and I think must be a suffragett and would like to do all the crowing herself. Now I think if you could have a law passed that all male species had a right to live and crow, you would be doing a great act of justice to all of your sex as the females feel sure the time is coming when all male will be extinct and we will degenerat to our former ancestors."

Sick headaches result from a disordered condition of the stomach, and can be cured by the use of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Try it. For sale by all dealers.

A Young Woman Teacher of Maine is Shot by a Chinaman.

MISTOOK INTEREST

Bangor, Me., June 9.—A confession that he had shot Miss Christine Shaw at Orono, last night, was made today, the police say, by T. S. Linn, a Chinese student at the University of Maine, arrested immediately after four revolver shots, one of which took effect, had been fired at the young woman on an Orono street. At the hospital in this city to which she was taken it was stated today that she would probably recover. Linn is alleged to have told the sheriff in the presence of several newspaper men that he shot Miss Shaw because she had caused him "mental torture." He said he had known Miss Shaw, who is a graduate of the University of Maine and a teacher in the Orono high school, for four years and two years ago asked her to marry him. She refused, but they had been on friendly terms since that time.

Miss Shaw had done much to assist Linn in his work at the university and from his statement today it was evident, the sheriff said, that he had misinterpreted her kindness.

MANY KILLED IN RAILWAY WRECK

Construction Train in Far Southwest is Smashed and Men Die.

NO DETAILS GAINED

Albuquerque, N. M., June 9.—Six persons are reported to have been killed in the wreck of Santa Fe passenger train No. 3, known as the California Limited, the fastest train on the Santa Fe system, near Domingo, 30 miles north today. A large number of injured are also reported.

The limited collided with a work train near Domingo.

Company officials here declined to give out information, but it is known that the wreck was disastrous by the fact that a train of nine cars, carrying hospital supplies and surgeons, left Albuquerque for the scene.

Among the known dead are A. W. Green, engineer of the work train, and the fireman of the limited, name unknown. A mistake in orders is supposed to have been responsible for the wreck.

The list of seriously injured was reported later as being between twenty-five and thirty. Five or six were probably fatally injured. A. W. Green, engineer on the train, is not dead, but fatally hurt. Two members of the train crew died about noon.

PITTSBURG BANKER IS HELD.

A Deal in Millions in Coal Lands Said to Be Wrong.

New York, June 9.—Thomas M. Latimer, a banker of Pittsburg, was arrested this afternoon at the Waldorf Astoria hotel and at the same time the police also placed under arrest down town John Phillips, an appraiser of Richmond, England, and Henry R. Deridder, aged 22, a student of London, England, on a telegram from Superintendent of Police Thomas McQuade, of Pittsburg.

According to Mr. Latimer the trouble is over a coal land deal in West Virginia and the floating of $12,000,000 worth of stock. The prisoners say there is a mistake in the arrests, which can be explained at the proper time. The prisoners were taken from headquarters to a police court to be arraigned. According to the Pittsburg police the men swindled A. H. Stolzenbach, of Pittsburg, out of $20,000 in a coal deal.

GOES TO PRISON ON PLEA.

Greenfield, Ind., June 9.—John Hollday pleaded guilty to assault and battery with intent to kill. He was sentenced to prison for from two to fourteen years and taken to Michigan City today. His wife, whom he shot while she was consulting a lawyer about a divorce, is recovering.

SOUTH SIDERS FORM A BRANCH

Make an Active Start in Civic Improvement Movement.

WANT A PARK THERE

The south side branch of the Civic Improvement association was organized Thursday evening at a meeting of interested citizens held at the residence of A. A. Ringwalt, 1231 Nuttman avenue, and officers were chosen as follows:

President—A. A. Rinwalt.

Secretary—F. M. Price.

The organization has for its primary object the creation of a big public park in the bend of the St. Mary's river south of the No. 3 pumping station, on South Broadway, and immediately outside the city limits. Here is a big tract of approximately 175 acres, an area practically as large as all the present city park territory combined, which the south side folks believe ought to be secured for park purposes.

It was a part of the plan proposed by Charles Mulford Robinson in connection with the river driveway. Marked interest has developed in the movement and at the meeting Thursday evening there were addresses by Mr. Ringwalt, F. I. Brown, A. Z. Pelhamus, Prof. Miles, Byron Strawn, F. J. Young and others. The south side folk point out that the present city parks are from one to three miles distant from them and they believe the tract indicated ought to be included in the city park system. A mass meeting is to be held shortly at the No. 3 pumping station to take further action in the matter.

Now is the time for belts. We have eight styles in 50c values. Others from 75c to $2.50.

TWO NEW FIRMS INCORPORATED.

Independent and Capital Cooperage Companies Open Offices Here.

Articles of incorporation for the Independent Cooperage company and the Capital Cooperage company, two new wholesale cooperage firms which recently opened up offices in Fort Wayne, were filed at Indianapolis Thursday.

Guy Bassett, who has been connected with the Noble Cooperage company as manager of the hoop department for ten years, will manage the business of the first concern, which is incorporated at $35,000. Among the stockholders in the firm are Mr. Bassett, Frank H. Poole, cashier of the Hamilton National bank; Harry Hogan, city attorney, and Frank T. Benoy, chairman of the board of public works. An election of officers will be held in the near future and Mr. Poole will be elected president and Mr. Bassett secretary and treasurer of the concern.

Oscar Brokaw, for the past five years manager of the Noble mills, and C. H. Milliken, who has been connected with the sales force for a year, comprise the firm of the Capital Cooperage company, which is incorporated at $10,000. Mr. Milliken previous to his connection with the Noble company was employed on the sales force of the Central States Cooperage company at New Castle.

The Independent Cooperage company is located in room 413 Physicians Defense building and the Capital Cooperage company in room 405 of the Shoaff building. Both concerns will conduct a slack barrel cooperage business.

TRAVEL VIA THE ROCKING CHAIR

I am a rocking chair tourist, writes George Willoughby in the National Magazine. I'd rather read a good book on travel than to go myself. It doesn't take so much time, nor so much money, and if the truth be known, I haven't much of either. It is surprising what a lot of traveling one can do through books, and not miss a single day at the office. So let us understand one another in the beginning. There are some who go and some who stay behind, but all are tourists; whether the trip is made in a steamer chair or in the old side-arm rocker. I can't begin to tell you how many times I've crossed the ocean in the old chair, and never once have I been seasick. I have enjoyed "home cooking" en route, and altogether have had a mighty fine time of it.

WHAT RANKLES WESTERNER

In New York You Have to Plead With the Saleswoman to Show You Goods.

(New York Sun.)

"After this week's experiences I can understand why three or four saleswomen in three or four different stores stand out in the memory of western women who come to New York shopping," a woman from Iowa said. "Before I left home I thought it ridiculous for my friends who had passed through the ordeal of going bankrupt in New York to say: 'There is one perfectly lovely girl in the shoe department at A.'s store, a nice girl in the waist department at B.'s, and another in the millinery department at C.'s.' How, I argued, was it possible for women who had spent hundreds of dollars in stores that employed thousands of clerks to pick out three or four girls as examples of good nature and cheerfulness?

"But now I know. For a week I have wrestled with the clothes proposition in New York, and after interviewing scores of young women behind the counter I am going home with just three that have treated me like a human being enshrined in my memory. At thought of them a glow of gratitude envelops me. Such an experience would not be possible in a western store. Maybe the girls out there do not stand a bit nearer the angels, but they are required to simulate whatever virtues Nature denied them. The stores there have goods to sell, and the girls are obliged to try to sell them. In this town you have to plead with a girl to show the goods on her shelves. New Yorkers are so accustomed to such treatment that they no longer resent it, but it still rankles in the soul of the independent westerner."

Pennsylvania Patrolman William Doehrman, who has been on duty in the strike ... ion near Pittsburg, is a home for a few days.

Miss Alice E. Hall, art supervisor of the city schools, will leave Sunday for Bloomington to take up her summer work at Indiana university.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

PLANNING REUNION OF 106TH REGIMENT

Eleventh Annual Gathering of Spanish-American War Veterans at Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., June 9.—Among the many reunions that are being held at this time of the year, one especially should be well attended. That is the annual reunion of the 106th Indiana regiment to be held at this city on August 15. It will be the eleventh annual affair and already the veterans are planning to have a great time. The gatherings have been well attended in former years and it is believed that this year will be a record breaker. As the years drag by and the soldiers become older the annual meetings with their comrades of 1898 become more important to them and the idea of an annual gathering to renew acquaintances and talk over camp times is becoming more popular. The permanent officers of reunion association are as follows: Dr. J. O. Fryer, Adjt.; Ransom Allen, Q. M.; L. L. Martz, shaplain; J. M. Kitt, historian. Each company has a lieutenant colonel who is supposed to keep a record of his company.

Carl Steele, of Co. K, of this city, will be the chief officer of the day during the reunion and has promised the visitors there will be something doing all the time and all will have a great time.

THIRD VICTIM OF FIRE DISCOVERED

Ruins of Klem Home at Swan Give Up Third Charred Body—May Be Elijah Bunning.

Avilla, Ind., June 9.—The mystery of the burning of the Otto Klemm store and residence in which Mr. Klemm and his little son lost their lives at Swan two weeks ago has been augmented by another mystery in the discovery of what is believed to be the charred bones of another human being, probably those of a man, who is also supposed to have burned to death in the fire.

While it is not yet definitely known that the pile of charred bones found in the ruins of the building after the fire had been put out and the debris had cooled off sufficiently to enable workmen to enter the premises are really the remains of another person, the citizens of the little village are earnestly talking of the matter and many of them are convinced that another person, besides Mr. Klemm and his little son, lost his life in the disaster, although they do not know who it was.

Additional interest is added to the mystery from the fact that on the Monday night before the fire Elijah Bunning, an old soldier residing at Laotto, mysteriously disappeared from his home and has not been seen or heard of since, and the people of Swan are inclined to believe that he may have wandered to Swan and, going into the wagon shed, which was built right up to the Klemm store, lay down in the seat of the huckster wagon which had been left in the shed and went to sleep, only to be burned to death in the fire which destroyed the building and shed, together with its contents.

The charred bones were found directly between the iron furnishings of the huckster wagon seat and this leads to the belief that the unknown victim was burned up while occupying the seat. It is probable that he may have gone to sleep while smoking a pipe, and this was the cause of the fire, as there has been so far no other plausible theory advanced as to the origin of the blaze.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Decatur Man Supposed to Have Committed Suicide.

Defiance, Ohio, June 9.—Two boys Howard Watson and Clyde Ankney, fishing at the foot of the ravine opposite the end of Deatrick street, near the B. & O. junction, of this city, discovered the body of Gregory Ehman floating down the Maumee river yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The boys notified Officer Hall, stationed at the B. & O., and he and A. F. Bassler brought the body to shore and identified it as that of Mr. Ehman.

Whether it was accidental death or suicide it is impossible to absolutely determine, but it was probably the latter. For a time Mr. Ehman had been confined in the Toledo State hospital for the insane, but he had been home here, living with his family, for the past eight or nine months, apparently improved in condition.

About 10:30 o'clock Wednesday evening Mr. Ehman left his home. One of his sons followed him and attempted to persuade him to return. He went with his father above Deatrick street, and supposing he was going to the home of Mr. Steffel, a son-in-law, the son returned. The next seen of Mr. Ehman was his body floating down the river. It is probable he went to the bank of the Maumee in the vicinity of the waterworks station and he either leaped or accidentally fell into the river.

Mr. Ehman was born in Germany November 27, 1857. He had been a resident of Defiance for a number of years. A widow, three sons, one of whom is in the United States army, and two daughters survive.

HONOR GREAT COMMANDER.

Wabash Maccabees Accord Reception to Milo Meridith.

Wabash, Ind., June 9.—What was unanimously declared by those present to be one of the most delightful events ever participated in by the Maccabees of Wabash county was the reception accorded Milo Meredith, of this city, recently elected great commander of the Maccabees of Indiana, and John L. Karns, of Urbana, elected great chaplain, Wednesday evening.

The reception was held in the lodge rooms on East Market street and over 100 of the members of the various tents in the county were present. It was shortly after 8 o'clock when the members of the order filed into the lodge room, where the meeting was called to order by Mr. Meredith.

GIRL HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Clothes Catch in Governor of Engine—Saved by Presence of Mind.

Claypool, Ind., June 9.—Miss Hazel Ruth, employed in the office of the Journal Printing company at this place, had a narrow escape yesterday morning, when her clothes caught in the governor of the gasoline engine. Only her presence of mind in quickly shutting off the engine doubtless saved her from serious injury, if not death. As it was nearly all of Miss Ruth's clothes were torn off of her and she was badly bruised, although no bones were broken. She will be confined to her home for a few days as the result of the accident. Miss Ruth has worked in the Journal office for a number of years and had charge of the office for some time until it was purchased by Will W. Reed, of Warsaw.

HOSE COMPANY ELECTS.

Columbia City, Ind., June 9.—The Empire Hose company, of the city volunteer fire department, held their annual election Wednesday night and elected Otto Binder as secretary and treasurer, and Charles G. Doriot as foreman. Fred Schneider had acted previously as secretary of the company, but the office of secretary and treasurer was made one this year. George J. Weick had been foreman before this election. The company has a full quota of twenty members, and every one is a live fire fighter. Ed Ulerich, F. T. Schultz and Will C. Strauss were elected as a standing committee.

MRS. BERRY SENTENCED.

Marion, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. Rosa Berry, charged with the theft of a horse and buggy from a local livery barn, was late last night sentenced to from one to fourteen years in the state prison. Owing to irregularities in the preparation of the indictments the case of horse stealing was not tried. Mrs. Berry was captured at Columbia City by Sheriff Shoemaker two weeks ago.

OLD SETTLERS' DAY.

St. Joe, Ind., June 9.—Thursday, June 15, will be a long remembered day by those who attend the Old Settlers' meeting at this place, for everything will be in readiness to make it one of the greatest days the town has observed for many years. Bills foretelling the big event are being distributed all over the county this week and many far and near are planning to attend.

ANDREWS MAN ROBBED.

Huntington, Ind., June 9.—S. M. Minnich, the well known and aged newspaper correspondent and resident of Andrews, was the first victim of circus day pickpockets yesterday. He was touched for his pocketbook when he boarded the traction car at the Andrews station yesterday morning and is the loser of $5 in cash and some very valuable papers.

TEAMSTER BREAKS LEG.

Bluffton, Ind., June 9.—Fred McCallen, a teamster employed by Charles Fetters, of this city, had his left leg broken late Wednesday afternoon while unloading logs at the Mercer lumber yards, in the northwest part of the city. He was removing the chains holding the logs on the wagon when they slipped, catching his left limb.

NEXT MEETING AT NAPPANEE.

Lagrange, Ind., June 9.—The next meeting of the Goshen District Epworth League will be held in Nappanee. This was decided at the business session of the annual convention which just closed at this place. The district voted $725 a year to keep A. R. McCartney, a medical missionary, in China.

MANY DOGS IN NOBLE.

Albion, Ind., June 9.—According to the dog reports filed by the township trustees there are at the present time 1,388 dogs in Noble county. Green township holds first place as an admirer of man's best friend with an enrollment of 126 members of the canine tribe.

BUILDS UP THE THIN AND WEAK

Samose Makes Thin People Fat or Meyer Bros. Co Will Return Money.

In Samose are combined flesh-giving food elements that soon produce a steady and noticeable gain in flesh. Taken after meals, Samose mingles with the food and causes it to be assimilated so that the fat producing elements are retained in the system and you will soon get good flesh, steady nerves and a healthy body.

Meyer Bros. Co. have seen such remarkable results following the use of Samose that they offer to pay for the treatment if it does not make thin people plump and rosy.

You run no risk whatever in buying Samose; it is a true flesh forming food and is sold under the guarantee of one of the most reputable business houses in Fort Wayne to refund the money if it does not give complete satisfaction.

NEW YORK—GONE TO THE DOGS.

There's Real Affection Displayed by the Owners of Canines.

"What women often say about their dogs, that they are 'worth their weight in gold,' will be literally true soon," a dealer in fashionable pets told a representative of the New York Evening Mail.

"Metaphorically, a good many dogs are already 'worth their weight in gold.' Ask the manager of a fashionable hotel who has suffered much from lapdogs. Not long ago a woman well known in society gave a dinner party at a hotel where she was staying. In defiance of the rules, she smuggled her dog into the dining room, and consequently she was politely reminded that dogs were not allowed in the public rooms. Up she bounced, and in five minutes (she ignored her guests) she was outside the place.

"I remember a strange incident at another hotel. A wealthy bachelor, who had a suite of rooms, suffered a terrible bereavement—his dog died. He went into mourning, and bought black not only for his valet, but for the hotel servants who waited specially for him."

THE POPULAR AND UNPOPULAR.

"Wat law is that timid, shrinking one over there by the door?"

"The unhappy law that looks as if it wished it were dead?"

"Yes; the one with the black eye."

"That's the Sherman law."

"And what is this bold and florid one that everybody treats with so much deference?"

"That's the unwritten law."—Newark News.

McKINNIEVILLE

Offers you the opportunity to buy lots on the greatest thoroughfares in the most thriving and progressive city in Indiana, with your savings. James J. Hill recently advised a young man thus: "Buy land and buy it anywhere." But why buy on the by-ways when you can buy on the highways? Most of the great moneyed men in this country are men who invested their money years ago in real estate and holding it, received many times what it cost. It is certain that money hid in the garret or put in the saving bank, will never make you rich. If you have the saving habit apply your business instinct by investing in good, sound real estate. Remember, that McKinnieville offers, 50, 60 and 63 foot lots on Calhoun, Harrison, Webster, Hoagland and Fairfield avenues, and there is more high-priced property on these streets than any other streets in the city. We are sacrificing this land and selling on easy terms one of the most beautiful plots, the best investment plot, on the best payment plan that was ever offered. Here is your opportunity and the number of lots is limited.

If You Can't See It in Time the Next Man Will

It was only a few years ago that certain railroad stocks were selling for $10.00 per share that are now selling for $150.00, and yet it was harder to sell them for $10.00 than it is today for $150.00. They are going fast, so don't delay, and folks who are interested in getting a home site or looking for a good investment for their savings will do well to get in touch, and quickly, too, with the McKinnie Realty Co. because they have really robbed every wage earner of the excuse of looking further for a first-class investment for his savings.

YES, THEY STEAL ELEPHANTS.

In Siam the Big Beasts Are Favored of Thieves.

It would seem that an elephant would be about the last thing in the world a man would be able to steal, says Harper's Weekly. Yet in Siam one must keep a careful eye on such elephants as he may own, no matter what their size, lest they be stolen from him.

Elephant stealing in Siam has always been more or less prevalent, and for some time past has been a source of much anxiety to the officials. Regulations were drawn up about twelve years ago by the British and Siamese authorities, with a view to the suppression of this offense. Later these were supplemented by additional regulations embodying definite rules for the purchase and sale of elephants, and imposing penalties on all persons in possession of elephants who are not provided with sale papers properly executed before the local authorities. Notwithstanding all these precautions, elephant stealing continues in Siam, and in one year alone fifty elephants were stolen from British foresters, representing a loss of some $45,000.

The Karen tribesmen are the chief offenders: but, though their somewhat inaccessible villages are well known to the nearest kwen, or district official, in no single instance has the assistance rendered by the Siamese officials led to the discovery of the elephant stolen or of the thief. In short, recovery, when effected, has been due to the activity and energy of the British foresters and the searching parties sent out by the British companies who employ the foresters.

AMERICANS NOT YET FORMED

Sorolla Believes We Are to Become Indians Again.

(New York Evening Mail.)

Are we going to become Indians again? Sorolla, the Spanish artist, believes that we will; that the influence of the country is at work upon us and is shaping us, coloring us and gradually extinguishing the fainter influences of the old country.

Of course, you must not think that we are going to turn into aboriginals again. Sorolla doesn't mean that. He means that we are going to be a perfectly natural, graceful race of people—not too tall, not too red, but supple, pliant and strong, as our predecessors were. In a word, a Hiawatha type is to spring from the fifth or sixth generation of the present day tribe of Manhattan. The artist points to the lithe beauties of California, the real "Indian types," as he calls them, to support his theory.

"The American woman is very interesting," he said recently. "The American type is not formed yet; it is still mingling with other bloods and expresses itself in a tangle of conflicting racial characteristics. Of the average woman I see I would not know in what language to address her.

"She might be English or Irish or Italian or Jewess, for all her face says to me. In fact, she probably has at least two of these nationalities in her.

"I believe that the Indian type is American. It is the country that makes the man, and with Europe eliminated and planed down, the Indian will rise again the perfect type of the splendid country that gave him his color, his freedom of pose and natural charm."

THE WHOLE BILL JUST AS WRITTEN

That Kind of Reciprocity Measure is What Taft Declares For.

SPEECH IN NEW YORK

New York, June 9.—"The bill, the whole bill and nothing but the bill." Thus President Taft summed up an earnest plea for the unamended adoption by the senate of the Canadian reciprocity agreement before a representative audience of southern men last night.

The occasion was a banquet given by the New York Produce exchange to the Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' association. The banquet hall resounded to a roaring welcome for the president as he entered the room last night.

There was no questioning the sympathy of the big bulk of his auditors with the president's plea. From the start every mention of the word "reciprocity" was greeted with cheers.

It was late when the banquet ended and the president was driven direct to the Pennsylvania terminal and entered his special car which was attached to the 2:30 o'clock train for Washington.

The president dwelt on the danger of tacking on the farmers' free list bill as an amendment to the reciprocity bill, saying the free list bill pertained to trade with all foreign countries and it might be opposed by a sufficient number of senators to defeat the reciprocity treaty.

"It has been the good fortune of our government within the last few days, and especially during this administration," the president said, "to enlarge the market for cottonseed oil, and the Canadian import duty upon cottonseed oil, which was 20 per cent. before the passage of the Payne tariff bill, is reduced, under the maximum and minimum clause to 17½ per cent.; that is a reduction of one-eighth of the duty.

"In the negotiation of the reciprocity treaty, however, we secured the admission of cottonseed oil into Canada without duty. In 1905 the value of the cottonseed oil introduced into Canada from the United States was $213,000; in 1911 it was $1,047,000—each year ending on March 31.

Effect of Removing Duty.

"With the complete removal of the duty we may expect the trade to increase greatly, not only because it will become less expensive in Canada, but because it will thus give cottonseed oil an advantage over its competitors, olive oil and peanut oil.

"I have gone into detail with reference to the effect of the reciprocity agreement in order to arouse you to aid, through your senators and representatives in congress, the passage of the reciprocity Canadian agreement. But there are other reasons for men who have the business interests of the south at heart that ought to add to your efforts in behalf of the reciprocity agreement. Under the treaty vegetables and fruits of all kinds enter Canada free. One of the greatest branches of the farming industry in the south today is the bringing of early vegetables and fruits to the north. With the introduction of these free into Canada you will certainly expand your industry and maintain good prices. The effect of the treaty as a whole is certain to be of the highest usefulness to the country at large, and will increase rapidly trade that now exceeds $300,000,000 into figures double that sum.

Farmers' Free List Bill.

"The treaty has opponents, however—vigorous, active and vociferous; and the arguments against it and the means taken to defeat it are not always of direct character. The house of representatives, soon after it passed the bill embodying the reciprocity agreement, passed a bill known as the farmers' free list.

"In my judgment, it was both unfortunate and unjust that this bill should have been introduced and adopted by some on the theory that it was a sop to the farmers to make up for the injustice and injury assumed to have been done them in the Canadian reciprocity bill—for there is no injustice done to the farmers in the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

"Whether the farmers' free list is a measure which ought to be passed is a question on the merits of that bill, and is to be, and ought to be, determined upon consideration wholly apart from the merits of Canadian reciprocity.

"If it is voted on to the reciprocity agreement it will drive away from the support of the reciprocity agreement a great number of votes, enough to defeat the agreement. This, it seems to me, ought to prove an insurmountable objection to voting a free list as an amendment to reciprocity.

Urges Support for Treaty.

"May I not ask you all, as Americans, as southerners, as southern cotton men and as southern cottotnseed men, to exert yourselves, through this association and in every other practical way, to urge upon and to demand of your senators that if they really favor reciprocity—as I sincerely believe mos tof them do—they shall take the best and most direct way to secure its passage?

"I hope you will not think that I have abused your hospitality by making this appeal. My justification for it is the conviction that I could not urge you to any course better adapted to increase your present prosperity and to add to the marvelous progress which the people of all nations, with gratified and unenvious eyes, have seen developed in the south."

Reviews Sunday School Parade.

All afternoon in Brooklyn the president reviewed 150,000 boys and girls who followed their Sunday school leaders in double file in a dozen different sections. He was carried to no fewer than twelve stands erected in parks and at street intersections, from which he looked upon the parades coming and going from all directions.

The day was full of pretty incidents. One was a kiss with which the president rewarded a little girl in pink who climbed upon his car as it halted in a crowd in the Williamsburg bridge plaza and handed him a big bouquet of American beauties. Another—when a boy called out with temerity:

"Hello, Mr. President. My name is [illegible]

SAVE 1-3 to 1-2 on Your Rugs --- ACT QUICK

Our Fall shipment of Velvet, Axminster, Brussels and Wilton Rugs just arrived and unfortunately for the railroad company they were loaded in a damaged car and encountered three heavy rains in transit.

The rugs were damaged very slightly by the w aer and need only laying out for a short period to return them to their original appearance. Their quality has not been affected in the slightest particular. Following our custom of never placing a damaged article, no matter how slight the damage, in our regular stock we refused the shipment. The railroad company, forced to make a settlement, instructed us to place them on sale for a limited time only so that they might realize a small cash return before being forced to settle. They instructed us to price them so that practically all would be turned into cash. That we have done so you will readily observe from these prices.

ll go and see Dunne," said Don-ou better," said Manning. "What does will come fast."

nnelly arose and left the office. a minute or two, Macy, without er word, did the same. Ezra Vinoming in, met him going out, and his unusual pallor.

What's the matter with Macy?" Vining, casually, as he dropped a chair. "He looked as pale as a."

ank was just in here wanting us ake up his fight, and when we dn't do it, he stormed around like d elephant, and it got on Macy's s a little, I guess."

anxious look came into Vining's

Well, whatever you do, don't break Tank," he said.

Ve have broken with him," said ning, tersely.

ou have!" gasped Vining, one ard going into his long iron-gray that was roached back like a e, and the other laid involuntarily he arm of Manning, while his y eyes gleamed with intensity, and ip fell away till it showed the yelroots of his lower teeth. "He's me stretched out tighter than a ."

Oh, that's all right!" reassured ning. "We've figured that. We save you on any of our deals."

But on my own deals," almost eked Vining. "I'm nailed to the . On that New Telephone fran, he's got me at least four ways. an send me to jail for life. He'll me on the stand against you, and have to testify, or he'll dig up two ree of those cases and send me to for life."

ning's lip drooped, trembling. In minutes he had passed from a well-erved, almost dandified fifty to a le seventy.

nning's own jaw dropped while he ed steadfastly in the face of the who had been the go-between of triumvirate of greed and graft, ch stood now in danger of disgrace ruin; and then rage flamed up.

Why the devil didn't you tell us long ago?" Manning almost amed.

Why the devil," exclaimed the old wildly excited; "why the devil 't you talk to me before you broke Tank? Haven't I always done the ness when it came to the scratch? t I closer to him than any of you?"

ut Manning was too coldly intellectual to waste much time on mere angry words of foolish recrimination Swiftly he clutched the 'phone and called up Dunne's office.

"Is Mr. Donnelly there?" he asked.

"Just gone," was the answer.

"Did he see Mr. Dunne?"

"Yes."

Realizing that he had failed to catch Donnelly in time to hold off the proposed alliance, provided Dunne was willing to enter into it upon his own part, Manning next called for Tank.

Tank himself answered the 'phone, and recognized Manning's voice. Never too angry to use his brain, he listened with patience to Manning's confession of error and humble proposal to do exactly what Tank had an hour before requested.

"Too late," said Tank, promptly. "I don't trust you any more. Only one way you can square it. Go to Dunne and arrange for the District Attorney to dismiss every one of the indictments against me before four o'clock to-day."

He had shrewdly suspected an alliance made or to be made with Dunne, and had put his price high, so high that he knew it was impossible. Manning thought it impossible, too, but he did not know yet the measure of Donnelly's success, and besides he wished to gain time, and to delay the progress of Tank's vengeance, so he answered:

"I'll see what can be done, and let you know in two hours. Dunne will be out at lunch now."

"All right," answered Tank. "All right if you don't let me know, too," he added with an impudent sneer that was gall to the heart of Manning, and then as he was hanging up the 'phone, there sounded again through it the hoarse voice of the Boss: "Is Vining there?" it asked.

"No," lied Manning, unblushingly.

"If he comes in tell him I want to see him quick," he went on, bluntly and added dryly, "I got use for him."

As Manning hung up the 'phone Donnelly entered the office.

"Well," queried Manning, quickly, nervously. "What did you do?"

"Planted seventy-five thousand with Dunne," answered Donnelly, rubbing his jaw with an unsatisfied air.

"How did he take it?" asked Manning.

"Cold as a fish. Looked at me like a schoolmaster at a boy who'd been playing hookey. 'You offer this of your own motion?' he said, 'unreservedly, —without condition except that it be used legitimately in the unearthing of municipal corruption and punishment of wrong-doers?' in that jerky way of his."

"And what did you say?"

"What could I say?" rejoined Donnelly. "I never gave up money so easily in my life, nor was so uncertain whether it got me anything or not."

Donnelly's face whitened and tightened grayely as Manning told of Vining's plight and hence of theirs, and of his interview with Tank.

"For God's sake," exclaimed Donnelly, when he had heard it. "I must see Dunne again, at once. Telephone Macy to throw seventy-five thousand dollars in currency into a grip of some kind for me, quick."

"Currency?" questioned Manning.

"Yes. I'm not leaving any broader trail than I can help on this route. I'll drop out at Macy's and get the money, and then try to catch Dunne before he goes out to lunch. You 'phone and head him off, if you can, and then catch Macy about the money. I'll be there in five minutes to get it."

NOTES OF THE DAY.

The production of tea is increasing rapidly in Japan.

Consul Ifft, of Nuremberg, writes that there is no soda fountain in that city and he has never seen one in any German city.

The American fountain pen practically monopolizes the English market. Although several English-made fountain pens of inferior quality are sold in London and throughout the provinces, there is only one well known English pen that can be considered a serious rival to the American product.—Denver Republican.

Sanitary inspectors of Saloniki, in Turkey, have adopted a plan for insuring to the public a supply of undiluted milk. They have ordered a supply of cans fitted with valves in such a manner that a liquid may be poured out but not in. Another opening permits the cans to be filled with milk. The cans, when they are full, are taken to inspection depots, after which the second opening is closed and stamped with an official seal. All the dealers will be supplied with these cans and compelled to use them.

"Another story of treasure comes from China," observes the San Francisco Argonaut. "It is said that gold bars worth $30,000,000 have been shipped from Pekin to London and that these bars represent a part of the fortune of the late empress dowager. No one seems to know who shipped them or to whom they have been sent, but that the terrible old lady must have had vastly greater wealth than this is certain enough. During the occupation of Pekin by the allied troops the treasure was concealed and, although some of it was found and looted, the bulk of it was undisturbed."

The German Antarctic expedition, under Lieutenant Filchner, will start this year for Buenos Ayres, whence it will sail in October for the Weddell sea. There a station will be established as far south as possible on the east coast, with equipment for a year's stay. A geologist, a meteorologist, an astronomer, a biologist, a cook and a sailor will remain at the station, and the other four men of the expedition will try to penetrate with sledges as far as they can go in the interior of the continent surrounding the south pole. While awaiting their return the ship is to make coastal and oceanographical observations in the Atlantic.

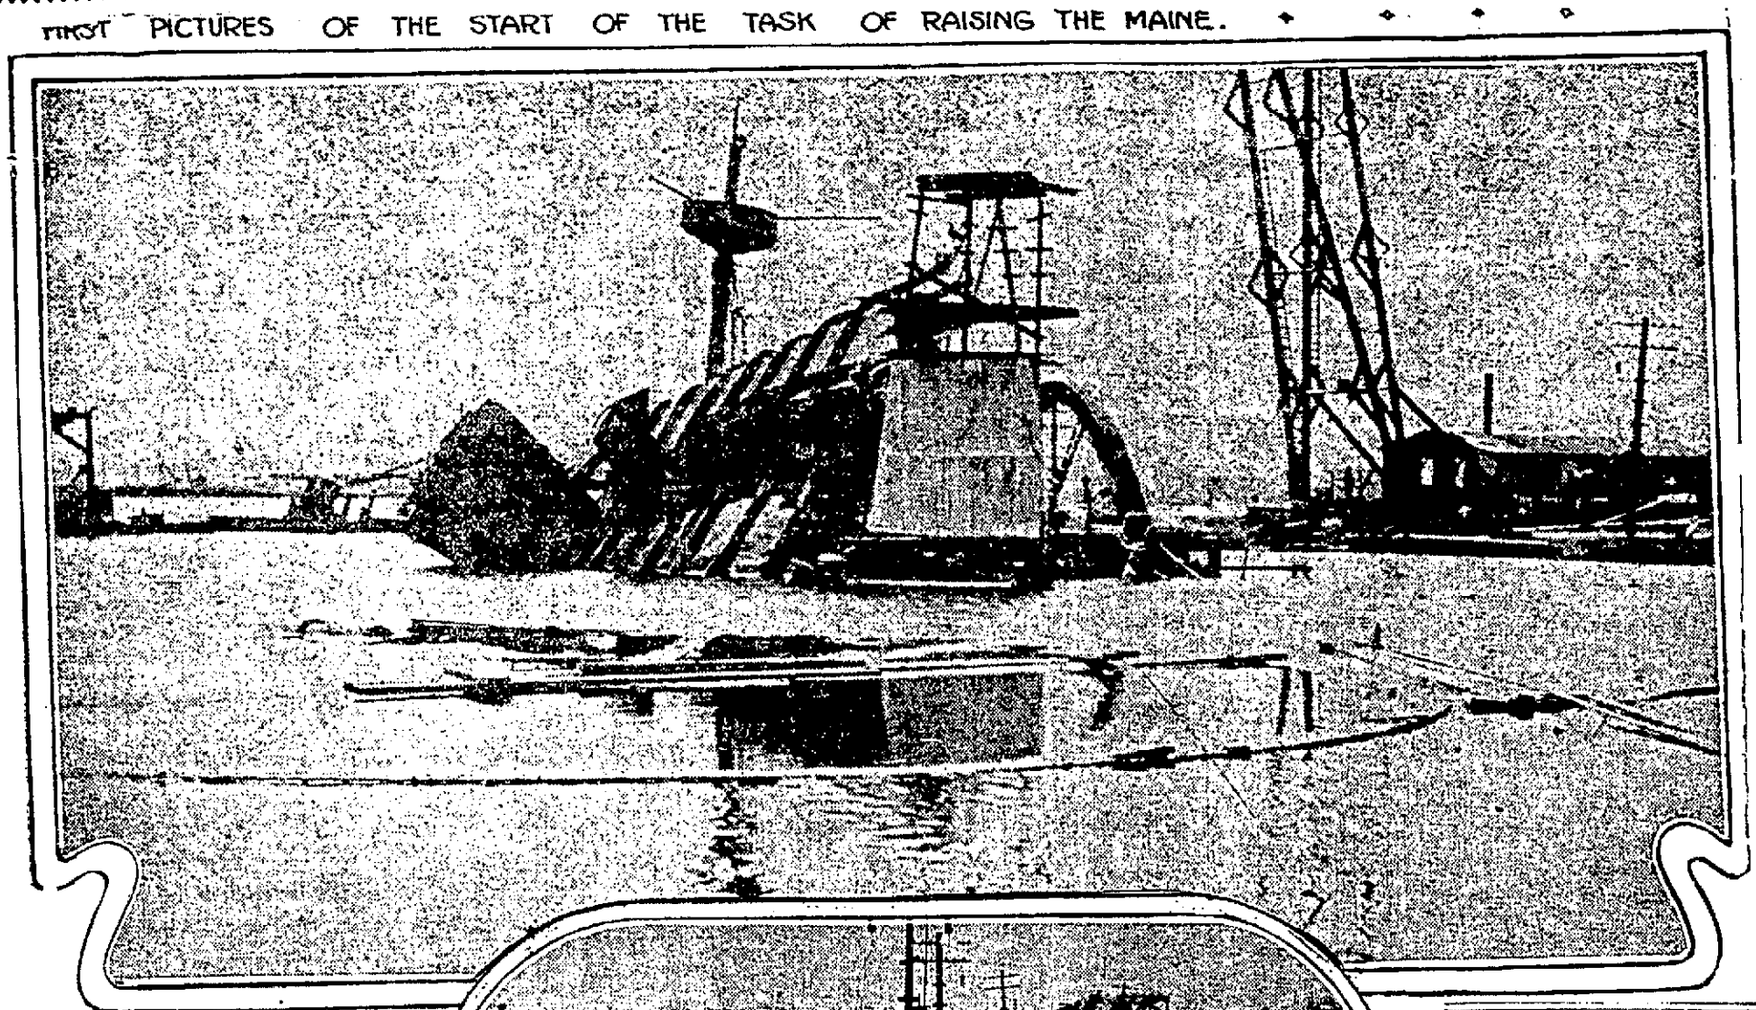
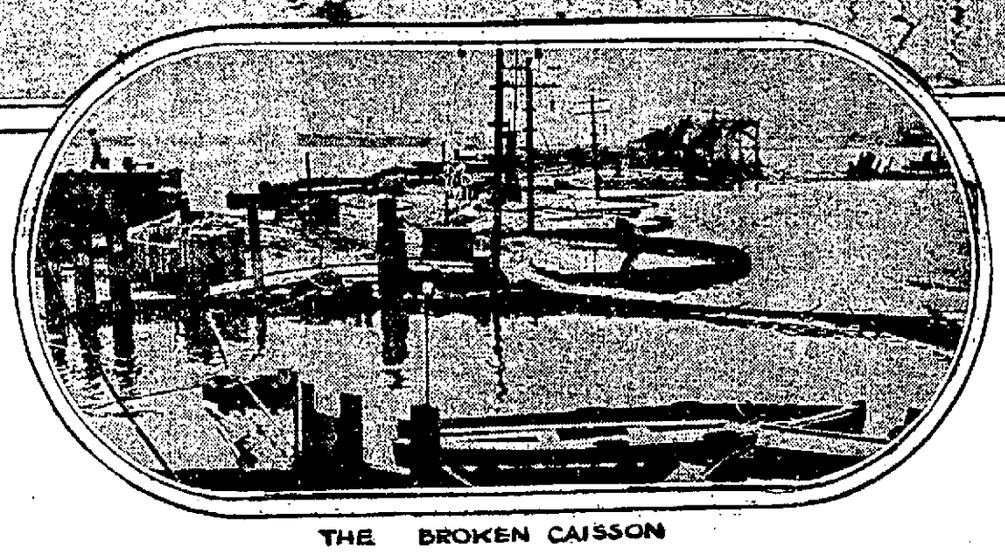
RAISING THE BATTLESHIP MAINE—THE WRECK AS IT LOOKS TO- DAY.

FIRST PICTURES OF THE START OF THE TASK OF RAISING THE MAINE.



HOISTING BROKEN BITS OF THE MAINE.



THE BROKEN CAISSON

They have started pumping out the water from the coffer-dam that surrounds the battleship Maine in Havana harbor, and the official inspection will take place on June 25. It will then be known definitely whether the Maine was blown up from the outside or from the inside. Visitors are allowed now to inspect the work, but as the water recedes they will be excluded.

THE CLASS IN HUMOR.

Members Take Lessons and Show a Few Samples.

THE attendants carried the professor of humor tenderly into the laboratory and after propping him up so that even in case of a relapse he could not by any possibility slip to the floor left the room. The hour sounded, and the students trooped in, some of them humming such merry dirges as the Chopin "Marche Funebre" as adapted by Hinckley de Sniggles for use by college students enamored of ragtime.

"Gentlemen," said the professor faintly as the class seated itself, "we are today to consider pictorial humor. You will find upon the blackboard a picture, drawn in the best manner of Mr. Charles Howard Montgomery, representing a young woman in a hobble skirt leaning against an onyx mantelpiece, while on a tiger skin rug at her feet a young man in riding breeches is discovered. Through the open window we notice an ocean steamer on its way out to sea, while back of the young lady on the mantel a copy of 'Omar Khayyam' is seen leaning against an ormolu clock. To the left is the eastern exposure of a divan. The problem before the class is to find a fitting joke for the picture. Mr. Slabsides, what would you suggest?"

"She," said Mr. Slabsides—"'Did you see Chollie off this morning, Henry?' He—'No; I saw him off last night.' She—'Why, I thought he sailed this morning.' He—'So he did. But he was off last night.'"

The professor suppressed a groan, and then he spoke.

"Mr. Longears, if this picture were submitted to you for a jest, what would you suggest?" he said.

"Well," hesitated Mr. Longears, looking anxiously around to see if the exits were clear, "I'd have the girl ask, 'Have you a Rubaiyat, Mr. Skillington?' To which the young man was to reply, 'No, Miss Winkleton, I prefer a derby.'"

A murmur of something went through the class.

"Order, gentlemen," said the professor. "Mr. Longears' joke is not at all a bad one, but it would go far better with what kind of a picture, Mr. Lynx?"

"Why, under the rules," said Mr. Lynx, "I should say that if placed under a black and white drawing of a young man jumping a lady over the waves at some seaside resort it would be more appropriate."

"Very good, indeed," said the professor. "Mr. Blinders, have you anything to suggest in respect to this picture?"

"She," said Mr. Blinders—"Would you marry a girl for her money, Chollie?' He—'I don't know, Gladys. How much have you got?'"

"Excellent!" said the professor, nodding approvingly at Mr. Blinders. "Can you improve on that, Mr. Dubbleigh?"

"I think so, yes, sir," said Dubbleigh. "I'd put it this way: She—'This is very sudden, Mr. Wiggles; I hardly know what to say.' Tommy—'Don't you believe it, Mr. Wiggles. I heard her tell ma she'd land you today or never.'"

The professor removed his glasses.

"Tommy, sir?" he frowned. "And who, pray, is Tommy?"

"Her little brother, sir," said Dubbleigh meekly.

"Ha-hum!" said the professor, inspecting the picture closely. "That sounds meritorious, but I hardly see where Tommy comes in."

"He's hidden behind the divan, professor," explained Dubbleigh.

At this point the props sustaining the professor in his chair gave way, and he toppled weakly to the floor, and by the time the attendants had restored him to his equilibrium the bell had sounded, and the students rushed madly from the room.—Harper's Weekly.

The Secretary Bird.

One of the most interesting birds in both appearance and habits is the secretary bird, from the dry and open parts of central and southern Africa. The male is fully four feet high, the greater part of that length being contributed by his neck and legs. The general color is ashy gray, the breast white, the wings, thighs and abdomen black. The middle tail feathers nearly reach the ground, and on each side of the head are two long black tufts, which give the bird its popular name of secretary, because in the days when quill pens were used writers were in the habit of carrying them stuck over their ears.

The bird's food consists of snakes, rats, lizards and other living animals, which it kills with its feet and swallows whole unless too big, when the beak tears them to pieces. When ready to kill, the bird lifts either leg, as may be convenient, and brings down the foot in a terrific blow, like that of a great hammer, usually striking the victim on the head. If the first blow fails to kill, the bird follows it with others in rapid succession.—St. Nicholas.

Before and After.

"He told me I was simply stunning in my fancy costume."

"And what did he tell you when the masks were removed?"—Houston Post.

Ready to Face Germs.

Her—But you have never shown that you are brave and fearless.

Him—Haven't I? Say, don't the doctors say that there are germs in kisses? And have I ever shown any hesitation in facing those invisible terrors?—Toledo Blade.

The Bluebird.

There is an old Indian legend that the bluebird was a piece of the sky which came down to live on earth. It surely looks as if this were true, for his head, back, wings and tail have the lovely blue color of the spring sky on a sunny day. Though he is now really a bird of the earth, the bluebird seems to enjoy getting back as near the sky as he can, and we often hear his call come floating down when he is so far above as to be out of sight.

The bluebird is not entirely blue. Indeed, he is said to be the most patriotic of birds, for his colors are red, white and blue. With the blue above and with a red breast and white underneath, the little fellow surely seems to be doing his best to display our nation's colors. The soft warble of the bluebird is one of the most delightful signs of spring.

IF YOU HAVE A SICKLY YOUNGSTER TRY THIS FREE

The family with young children that is without sickness in the house now and then is rare, and so it is important that the head of the house should know what to do in the little emergencies that arise. A child with a serious ailment needs a doctor, it is true, but in the majority of instances, as any doctor knows, the child suffers from some intestinal trouble, usually constipation.

There is no sense in giving it a pill or a remedy containing an opiate, nor is flushing of the bowels to be always recommended. Rather give it a small dose of a mild, gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, by cleaning out the bowels and strengthening the little stomach muscles, will immediately correct the trouble.

This is not alone our opinion but that of Mrs. N. H. Mead of Freeport, Kans., whose granddaughter has been taking it successfully and of Mrs. J. R. Whiting of Lena, Wis., who gives it to her children and takes it herself. It is sold in fifty cent and one dollar bottles at every drug store, but if you want to test it in your family before you buy it send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will forward a supply free of charge.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

ENFORCING HONEST WEIGHTS AND MEASURES IN NEW YORK.

BURNING CONFISCATED BASKETS AT WALLABOUT MARKET

The above photograph shows the extent of the campaign now being waged in New York against short weight measures. The housekeepers who have been swindled for a long time protested vigorously to the commissioner of weights and measures, who made a bonfire of more than three thousand short measure baskets taken from peddlers and dealers in the last two months. The bonfire in Wallabout Market was witnessed by five hundred men and boys, who cheered and jeered in turn. The incineration served a double purpose—that of providing an object lesson to dishonest peddlers and preventing their use again.

WHAT'S A MAID OR TWO.

Whether it is that the hot season is getting in its work or that the woman in the case has just gone some of the rest of her sex one better in the way of forgetfulness, nobody at the Waldorf was prepared to say. But the fact is a Washington woman who spent a few days at the hotel left for home on Monday and forgot to take her maid with her.

The visitor departed by the Congressional Limited. About an hour later the maid turned up at the office and inquired where her mistress was. She was told she had gone home. This intelligence dissolved Marie, who is French, into such copious tears that the information clerk telephoned to the storeroom for an extra supply of blotters. Marie said her mistress had just simply forgotten she had brought a maid with her, and she wanted to know what was going to be done with her. After a consultation the maid was sent to the 6 o'clock train and headed in the direction her mistress had taken. —New York Sun.

JAPAN HAS THE SWELLHEAD.

Also Talk of War With America Is Popular, a Professor Says.

(New York Sun.)

Prof. Joseph King Goodrich, who until lately occupied the chair of English in the Imperial Government college at Kyoto, Japan, and who has written a book on China to be published in the fall, possesses first hand knowledge of the complicated eastern situation.

"In 1868 I first visited Japan," he says, "and saw something of old Japan, for conditions were not then materially affected by the new civilization. Since 1886 I have made my home in Japan, except for a period of about four years.

"That gap, however, came at the most critical time in Japan's evolution, for during my absence the China-Japan war of 1893-94 had been fought and I returned to find the first evidence of swellhead. During all my residence I took my part in educating young men, and besides I gave myself diligently to the study of the language, history, economic and fine arts, and I was always warmly in sympathy with Japan's legitimate aspirations in peaceful development.

"I never did feel that the country was altogether, if at all, justified in its first attack upon China, and I still have that feeling. In 1903-04 I was as completely deceived as anybody in Japan's altruistic declarations concerning the motives which led the country to attack Russia, and I now see that it was part of a deep laid scheme against China's integrity; events since the autumn of 1905 have demonstrated the correctness of this view.

"But my sympathy was with Japan until after the close of the war with Russia. Then my feeling changed when I learned that the altruism was a mere sham and that the nation had no intention of keeping its promise to China, to other powers, or to the open door in Manchuria, to foreigners in its own country who had been induced to pay war taxes by the assurance that they would be discontinued the moment peace was declared.

"I have seen nothing in Japan's actions since 1905 which did not give good reasons to believe the nation a mischief-maker. The antipathy to the United States, in spite of official statements to the contrary, has always been most outspoken; my students were disgustingly frank in saying that it was the intention of their country to fight mine, and to whip, too, of course, so as to get a big indemnity with which to restore the ruined financial condition of Japan.

"This persistent nagging of the United States that has gone on now for five years or more has always puzzled me, and I do not see clearly what it means. Can it be a cunning device to divert the attention of the world from Japan's evil intentions toward China? This may be, because if there is one thing plain to me it is that Japan has designs in that direction which bode ill for China and nothing good for the rest of us."

HEALTH

Is Life's Greatest Asset

Special Offer Until June 15

Others Treat — I Cure

CURES AT YOUR OWN PRICE—Every person who calls on me before June 15 will not only receive a careful and thorough examination FREE OF CHARGE, but absolutely no fee will be charged during that time other than you yourself are willing to pay.

ARE YOU SATISFIED WITH THE CONDITION YOU ARE IN, OR DO YOU WANT TO GET WELL? DO YOU WANT TO KNOW JUST WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH YOU? If you do you should get the benefit of experience, unless you are satisfied to pay for experiments, and at the end find out that you are out your money, and your health is worse than before you began. I have made a special study of PELVIC, NERVOUS and CHRONIC DISEASES for over fifteen years and have perfected methods that cure where the ordinary methods fail.

LIFE IS TOO SHORT and HEALTH IS TOO PRECIOUS to experiment with, therefore, it behooves you to go to one who is thoroughly capable, and who, by his many years of successful experience, is the most able to CURE you. The best, while probably costing a little more money, is always the cheapest—and where such an important matter as LIFE and HEALTH is concerned it is the utmost folly to accept anything but the BEST.

When the hearse backs up to your door it is then too late and your money will avail you not. Do you not think that that is a big price to pay for folly? Do you not think that it is much wiser to rid yourself of disease and enjoy life and health? Now is the time to make the start before it is everlastingly too late. WHEN YOU MAKE THE START, MAKE IT RIGHT.

The hundreds of letters from satisfied patients that I have in my office, backed up by sworn statements, ought to appeal to you if you value your health. These are not from people who live far away, but prominent persons, living in and around Fort Wayne, and many of whom you are probably well acquainted with.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the result of CHRONIC or imperfectly treated PELVIC DISEASES. My special methods of treatment not only quickly and permanently relieve the most distressing symptoms, but restore to a NORMAL and HEALTHY condition the broken down and devitalized nervous system.

EXAMINATION—My facilities for examination are unexcelled. I learn the exact condition of the rectum, bladder and every organ of the genito-urinary system. This in itself is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken down nervous system and many more of the troubles of the STOMACH, LIVER, KIDNEYS, etc., are reflex, and are the direct result of some pelvic lesion or disease.

BLOOD POISON—I use serums and vegetable drugs in the treatment of blood poison. Mercury and mineral poison have ruined many a man. My treatment eliminates the poison in half the time of the old methods and leaves the blood and tissues free from any taint of disease.

RUPTURE—I cure rupture in a few treatments without the use of the knife, without pain and without loss of time.

VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, PILES, FISTULA, etc., quickly and permanently cured without the knife and without detention from business.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT—Hundreds of men in every community are suffering untold humiliation and torture from pain and non-retention of urine simply because they have not been able to obtain relief from this most distressing condition. You cannot afford to neglect yourself, either as a matter of business or personal comfort. My many testimonials prove the efficacy of my method. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure fully 90 per cent of all cases.

SAGE AND SULPHUR

Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss
COUNTY OF MONROE } ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

A Peasant's Counterfeit Dollar Catches Robbers.

THEY CENSURE HIM FOR IT.

Peacock and Gobbler Engage in Dispute as to Their Relative Value, and Farmer Settles Question—Squirrel Too Wise to Accept Fox's Word.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.]

A PEASANT who was on his way home from market sat down by the roadside to count over his money, and when he found that he had been stuck with a counterfeit dollar he raised his voice in lamentation. He was still howling when a robber stepped out of the bushes and exclaimed:

"What is all this row about? Hand over your dough or take a broken head!"

The peasant complied very willingly and made haste to get away, but before he had gone far he was accosted by a second robber with a command to shell out.

"Alas, but I met a robber back there who took my all!" he replied, and after some delay to search his hind pockets he was allowed to proceed. It turned out, however, that both robbers were arrested, and when he had sworn against them and they had been found guilty and sentenced the first one cried out to him:

"See what you have done! Had you not had that counterfeit money in your possession I could not have robbed you of it and would still be looked upon as an honest man!"

And the second robber took up the refrain with:

"I am to go to prison for long years, and thou art to blame for it. Hadst thou had money in thy possession when I stopped thee I could have paid my car fare into New Jersey and been safe."

Moral.—More than one man has harmed his fellow man in seeking to help him.

The Peacock and the Gobbler.

One day the Peacock and the Gobbler met on the path, and after surveying each other for a moment in contempt the first cried out:

"Out of my way, thou fowl of the barnyard!"

"Don't lug in no barnyard business on me!" replied the Gobbler. "You seem to think yourself some pumpkins, but no one else does."

"They don't, eh? Why, I have only to spread my tail to stop wayfarers and hear exclamations of admiration."

"But one gobble of mine will do the same thing and more."

"You make a sound like an old cow choking to death on a turnip!"

"While your scream would drive a hungry hog from his feed!"

"Aside from your feathers you are a useless bird."

"And the world would never miss you."

They were still disputing as to which was of the most importance when the master came along with a chicken buyer and said:

"I have saved the Peacock that I might get a bunch of his tail feathers to go over the looking glass, and I've hung on to the Gobbler because he's rather hefty on tater bugs, but if you want the pair at a dollar and a half take 'em along."

Moral.—The man who gets the notion that the world couldn't get along without him is preparing the way to be sold cheap.

The Fox and the Squirrel.

A fat but active Squirrel was enjoying himself one day in leaping from limb to limb of the trees when a hungry Fox came along to say:

"My friend, I'd like to have a little talk with thee in regard to the acorn crop:"

"But that is months away," was the reply.

"Then we'll talk about strawberries. But you see how hoarse I am, and I hope you will come nearer."

The Squirrel descended to within ten feet of the ground and there paused.

"What I have to say to you had best be told in a whisper," said the Fox in a confidential way.

"And I am listening," was the reply.

"I've got a good thing on hand and want a partner, but it must be some one who has confidence in me."

"I have the utmost."

"But you persist in remaining up the tree instead of coming down beside me."

"And therein lies the basis of my confidence. Knowing that you can't climb and that I shan't be fool enough to come down to you, I feel a feeling of chumminess stealing all over me. What did you say about strawberries?"

Moral.—Their voices had aroused a Coon dwelling in the same tree, and when the situation had become plain to him and the Fox had departed in disgust he turned over, with a grunt, and said:

"When the one can't come up and the other won't go down, the string game is all off, and we must look for another sucker."

The Judge and the Thief.

Being arrested for stealing a sheep, a countryman informed the judge before whom he was to be tried that he would plead his own case. This he was permitted to do, but of the three witnesses who swore against him he had no questions to ask. When the evidence for the prosecution was all in the prisoner arose and said:

"Your honor, I move to quash on the grounds of defective complaint."

"But I see no defect."

"Then let me point out to you that there is no complaint of my having stolen the horns. This sheep was a ram. A ram may have horns or he may not. If this ram had horns the complaint should be quashed; if he did not have, then it was right to hold me for stealing the body. It is up to the prosecution to prove the horn question, and it has not been done."

"I observe," replied the judge after a little reflection, "that you have but one leg."

"That is true."

"And in passing sentence your missing leg will be left out of the penalty as an offset against whether the ram had horns or not. Had you appeared before me with two legs the sentence would have been two years. As you have only one we'll say fifteen months."

Moral.—When you split hairs with the law you generally get the worst of it.

The Peasant and the Blackbird.

A Blackbird who was scratching up and eating the corn the Peasant had just sown was fired on and mortally wounded, and as he flopped around on the field he cried out:

"You should never have done it! I am a Blackbird and not a Crow."

"Well do I know that," was the reply, "and I loaded my gun with less powder and fewer shot on that account."

Moral.—A conscientious man can always be depended on to do the fair thing.

Good For Sixty.

"It's like this, your honor," said the prisoner who was arraigned for disorderly conduct. "I was going home at a late hour when three men jumped on to me."

"I see."

"And the officer arrested me by mistake."

"Um! Officer, how was it?"

"I think he was only defending himself, sir."

"Well, in that case— Ha! Prisoner, have you ever been here before?"

"No, sir."

"Speak the truth."

"I never have."

"But I am sure I have seen you within the last two months."

"But it wasn't here, sir. I work for a plumber, and I was at your house mending a leak in a water pipe."

"Oh, I see. It was a leak you might have mended in ten minutes, and you took a day and a half. Sixty days for you, my man."

GARY

THE STEEL CENTER OF THE WORLD.

Gary, Indiana, only a few miles west of Fort Wayne, is destined to be the largest industrial city in the world, and the rapid growth of the city and increase in real-estate values can only be estimated by the following improvements made and contemplated.

The United States Steel corporation has already expended eighty millions of dollars thus far in the building of their plant and improvement of the city, and the following is a partial list of plants in course of construction:

The American Bridge Co. Will employ over 4,000 men.

American Sheet and Tin Plate Co. Will employ over 7,000 men.

Universal Portland Cement Co., with capacity of 17,000 barrels of cement per day. Will employ 3,000 men.

Gary Screw and Bolt works. Will employ 1,000 men.

Plant of the Coking branch of the Steel corporation with 560 ovens under construction.

The Gary steel mills have a capacity of 165,000 tons of steel per month, and in the finishing work where steel is made into merchantable shape, the Gary mills are superior to any plant in America. The following departments have been finished:

Eight blast furnaces.
Twenty-eight open hearth furnaces.
Standard rail mill (capacity 1,000,000 tons annually, 4,000 tons daily).
Billet mill.
Axle mill.
Three merchant mills.
A. C. electrical station.
Pumping station.
Ore docks.
Machine shops and foundries.
General office buildings and laboratory.
Corporation hospital, $400,000.

Among the sites reserved by the steel corporation for the location of other enormous plants within Gary are as follows:

American Locomotive works, 300 acres.
American Car and Foundry Co., 200 acres.
National Tube works, 100 acres.
American Steel and Wire Co., 100 acres.

Six trunk railroads pass through Gary, and a belt line railroad has been constructed around the industrial properties connecting all of said railroads. At the present time The American Bridge Co. is building 142 dwellings for its employes, and The American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., is building 89 houses. The E. J. & E. railroad has 100 houses under construction.

Porters on a Great Northern Train Are Equipped for the Dust.

Chicago Inter Ocean.)

Microbes and germ breeding dust have been banished from the cars of the Oriental limited of the Great Northern railroad as the result of the innovation a few days ago of a vacuum cleaning whisk broom which will be used by porters on the clothing of passengers in the place of the old-fashioned duster.

The use of the vacuum clothes brusher for railroad passengers is the latest thing introduced by the Great Northern in the competition to provide comfort and convenience for patrons. A number of ways have been devised by the railroad companies to make travel as pleasant and healthful as possible, the most recent of which was the serving of free tea in the cars of a railroad entering Chicago.

The Great Northern has gone its competitors "one better," however, in providing luxuries for its passengers.

When the Oriental limited, the Great Northern's luxurious train from Chicago to the Pacific coast, left Chicago the porter in each car carried a full line of vacuum cleaners of every size and description in his locker in place of whisk brooms.

The vacuum cleaners will be used for all purposes, from dusting the carpet on the car floors and brushing off the plush seats, to putting the proper shine on a silk hat.

The Oriental limited, upon which the new vacuum clothes cleaning process will be used, is an entirely new train direct from the shops. Even the locomotive is new.

POPE'S GARDEN OF FRIENDS.

Pope's villa at Twickenham, which is now to let, was the scene of the happiest years in the poet's life, says the London Chronicle. Pope was at least as vain of his prowess as an artificial gardener as he was of his poetry.

He spent years in the elaboration of his grotto. "I am as busy in three inches of garden," he wrote to Lord Strafford in 1725, "as any man can be in three score acres. I fancy myself like the fellow that spent his life in cutting the twelve apostles on one cherry stone. I have a theater, an arcade, a bowling green, and, what not, in a bit of ground that would have been but a plate of sallet to Nebuchadnezzar the first day he was turned to grass."

The grotto must have had strong claims upon its owner's regard, for it was a shrine of friendship. Almost all the decorations were contributed by friends and admirers. The duchess of Cleveland presented clumps of amethyst and pieces of spar; Dr. Borlase, the Cornish antiquary, sent native diamonds and ores; Lyttleton procured red spar from lead mines; Spencer gave pieces of lava especially brought from Mount Vesuvius, and fragments of marble from the grotto of Egenia; Gilbert West sent petrifactions; Sir Hans Sloane, some fine fragments of basalt from the Giant's Causeway, while less famous friends contributed verde antique from Egypt, gold ore from Peruvian mines, pebbles from Brazil, coral, humming birds and exotic owers and shrubs.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Ill., June 9.—Wheat damage reports and other bullish news today quickly supplanted as wheat market favors the government analysis of the crop situation. After a selling rush during which offerings were absorbed in almost greedy fashion, the price rebounded, and the early loss was more than wiped out. One reason was that the crop totals which the government furnished were based upon a new method of figuring, and could not be satisfactorily compared with those of previous years. The heat damage dispatches came chiefly from Kansas where the temperature was said to have gone higher than in any June for over a quarter of a century. In addition, world shipments were said to promise less then had been expected. The opening was ¼c to ⅜@⅝c down. July started at 90⅞c to 91⅛c, a decline of ¼@⅝c to ½@⅞c and then rose to 91¾c.

The bullish outlook regarding hay put the corn market on the upgrade. Hot weather complaints from the southwest acted also as a help. July opened ⅜c off to ¼c higher at 54¾ to 54⅝c and advanced to 55⅛c.

Offerings of oats were less than the demand. There was some country buying on account of assertions that conditions have been cut down since the government data was gathered. July started the same as last night to ⅜c up at 37c to 37⅝c and climbed to 37¾c.

Provisions turned sharply higher because of strength in the hog market. First sales were 2½@5c to 15c up with September delivery $15.00 for pork, $8.35 to $8.37½ for lard and $8.12½ to $8.17½ for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, June 9.—Stocks were steady at about the level of yesterday's closing at the opening today. A number of gains were made but most of the changes were small. American Beet Sugar was the strongest, advancing a point. Brooklyn Rapid Transit gained ⅝ and Northern Pacific, Great Northern Pacific, Reading and Amalgamated Copper ½. Denver & Rio Grande preferred lost a point and Pittsburg Coal preferred ⅝.

During the first half hour the market advanced from a ½ to a point above yesterday's closing. Selling orders were then distributed and the gains were cancelled. Prices were picking up again at 11 o'clock.

After an upward movement of small dimensions and a quick relapse the stock market grew quiet about the level which prevailed at yesterday's close. The volume of trading was smaller. United States Steel was watched closely in view of the belief that an unusually powerful bear combination had been responsible for the recent pressure against it, but the stock held steady throughout the morning session. Third Avenue was strong and there was a large absorption of Wabash-Pittsburg bonds which went up over 2 points. The bond market generally was firm.

Canadian Pacific achieved distinction in an otherwise uninteresting market by rising to 241, a new record price, compared with 239¾, its low figure of the morning and 239¾ yesterday's closing. The protected advance in this stock has been attributed to a variety of causes, of which perhaps, the outlook for record breaking crops in the road's territory is the most potent.

TO BAR SAVAGERY IN SHOWS.

Indians Believe Harm Results to Their Tribesmen.

A movement which is being encouraged by members of congress and other officials of the government may result in putting an end to the wild west show business and all other traveling exhibitions that depend on the leasing of reservation Indians, says a Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia North American.

Those who are back of this movement are Indians, the educated members of the race who have investigated the results to the Indians of taking them about the country to give exhibitions of primitive savagery. The movement will take definite shape nexxt fall, when a convention of educated Indians will be held at Columbus, Ohio.

The educated Indians have carried on investigations of their own. But they find ample support of their protest in the archives of the Indian bureau. As far back as 1890 Commissioner Morgan asked Indian agents to make reports on the effect of the show business on the Indians. Some of the letters received by Commissioner Morgan showed conditions so bad that the letters were unfit to print even in the government reports.

The reports indicated that the young Indians are ruined morally and physically on these tours, having some in contact with the most vicious elements. Many of them die, and those that return to the reservations bring with them low estimates of the white man's morals and religion.

SEA DIVER FINDS A RING.

The Woman Who Lost it Paid $100 for the Recovery.

(Los Angeles Examiner.)

Venice, Cal.—From the depths of the ocean off Venice pier, where it sank when it slipped from the finger of its fair owner, the diamond engagement ring lost by Mrs. A. R. Woods, the wife of a wealthy Arizona mine owner, was rescued a few days ago.

The jewel was recovered by Al Burton, a deep sea diver, who for some time past has been working as the first assistant of Capt. Al Christy, one of the best known submarine workers of the Pacific coast.

Twenty-eight minutes after he disappeared beneath the waves, Burton was drawn to the surface, and holding up his hand flashed the rescued jewel toward the spot where Mrs. Woods was eagerly watching his operations.

Burton, when he learned of the generous reward offered by Mrs. Woods, determined to recover the jewel. With Capt. Christy he had come to Venice to attempt to recover a huge barge anchor which was lost more than a year ago, but before starting his search for the mudhook, he determined to make an effort to earn the $100 which had been offered for the recovery of the ring.

Acertaining from Mrs. Woods as nearly as the latter was able to tell, just where the ring had disappeared, Burton, his air hose and life line in charge of Capt. Christy, descended into the rough water outside the breakwater. For nearly half an hour his movements under water could be traced by the line of bubbles from his helmet as he searched the bottom under the float.

Then Christy received a sudden signal to "haul up," and a moment later the helmet of the diver appeared above the surface. Burton waved his hand, and even from the pier the diamond could be seen flashing on his finger.

Mrs. Woods hastened to meet the diver as the latter landed on the dock near the breakwater, and as Burton laid the ring, which had been placed upon her finger as a love token, in her hand, attempted to thank the diver.

NEW BRANCH IS OPEN.

Beyer Brothers Company Has Wholesale Produce House Here.

Beyer Brothers company, the big wholesale produce concern with headquarters at Rochester, now has a branch in operation in Fort Wayne under the management of C. L. Hall. It occupies quarters at 520 Calhoun street, formerly used by Swift & Co., and the plan is to make Fort Wayne the distributing point for the eastern market.

In addition to the main house at Rochester the Beyer Brothers company has branches at many points, including Fort Wayne, Markle, Argos, Waterloo, Kendallville, Angola, Goshen, South Bend, Logansport, Monticello, Huntington, Columbia City, Warsaw and Peru. The company owns a tract of land along the Pennsylvania tracks west of Garden street, and it is announced that as soon as track elevation work is finally disposed of the company will erect a large, modern storage plant here.

There Are Two Kinds of Economy

The wise and the foolish. It is the foolish economy to buy any sort of merchandise, no matter what the price, unless there is quality back of it. The wise economist looks for quality first, then price. Goods that do not promise satisfactory service are dear at any price. Join the "show me" class and insist upon quality. This store is famous for quality.

KEHOE TO LEAVE TRACTION SYSTEM

Superintendent of Light and Power Tenders His Resignation.

BECOMES SALESMAN

M. J. Kehoe, superintendent of light and power for the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, today tendered his resignation and will leave the company as soon as arrangements can be made to secure a successor. He will become identified with the Fort Wayne Oil and Supply company as special salesman.

Mr. Kehoe is the fourth of the traction department heads to resign within the past few weeks—General Manager Emmons, Master Mechanic Jacques and Superintendent of Transportation Hardy having resigned earlier. Mr. Kehoe came to Fort Wayne in 1898 from St. Paul, Minn., directly after the expiration of his term of enlistment in the Roosevelt Rough Riders. He was brought here by A. L. Scott, then manager of the city traction lines, and was at first chief electrician at the Chestnut street power station. When the Wabash Valley built its new station on Spy Run avenue Mr. Kehoe was placed in charge of it, and upon the resignation of C. G. Guild little more than a year ago he was made superintendent of light and power. Mr. Kehoe is well known and is first vice president of the Commercial club.

Carnation free, Fairy, Saturday, matinee and night

AT THE FAIRY.

Two dramas of quality, "All for Money," a great American drama "chuck full" of the most exciting incidents. The escape of the two women from the madhouse by means of a rope is great. "The Feud" is a thrilling story of love between two young people whose fathers are sworn enemies. Cowboys of the rival ranchers help cupid win a victory. Tomorrow a carnation will be given away with every ticket sold both afternoon and evening. Heretofore it has been the custom to only give carnations to the ladies; tomorrow every man, woman and child will receive one of these beautiful flowers free. A good show is booked and satisfaction will be guaranteed.

Boys' and youths' bathing suits, sizes 24 to 34, plain blue and white trimmed, from 50c to $1.50.

CITY BREVITIES.

Thursday evening, June 22, has been chosen as the date for the annual banquet of the Fort Wayne chapter of the American Institute of Banking. The feast will be held at Robison park.

J. Schroeder, an electrician who was frightfully burned at the traction substation three weeks ago, submitted to an operation for the amputation of the ring finger of his right hand at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday. The hand was fearfully burned and it was at first believed he would lose the entire member. Both of Schroeder's feet were cut off in a railroad accident two years ago.
